'Orphan' Finds A Family

A young fawn, orphaned by the untimely death of its mother, has quickly adapted itself to living with a Lisbon area family.

Although wild animals ordinarily shy away from man as a natural enemy, the little deer has no fear and readily eats from a baby bottle provided by Howard and Mary Pettigrew of the Old Steubenville Pike near Lisbon.

Ralph Drake of near Elkton, county game protector, holds the fawn, while Pam Bowser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bowser of Lisbon R. D. 1, feeds it.

Drake says the fawn's mother was killed by an auto June 7. Last Saturday the family found the fawn, apparently forced from its hiding place by hunger.

The pleading bleats of the animal led the family to provide milk, which the fawn quickly took from a bottle. It drinks regular milk, diluted with water and syrup.

The fawn is a male and naturally has been named "Bambi" by its new friends.

The animal has even made friends with the family's pet dog.

This in itself could prove fatal for the fawn. Once it has learned to adapt itself to man and dogs, it cannot be returned to the wilds to fend for itself. Lack of fear would make it an easy target for a hunter or for dogs that might find it.

Usually such animals are taken to a state area where they can be placed in a protected area, such as a wild animal farm.

Anyone finding any young wildlife near dead parents should contact the game protector so arrangements can be made for proper care.

Premier Kosygin On Way

U.N. General Assembly Will Meet On Saturday

To Consider Situation In Middle East

Will Develop Into High-Level Talks; LBJ May Appear

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—With Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin already en route to New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant announced today the General Assembly will meet in emergency session Saturday to deal with the Middle East situation.

The session is scheduled to open at 9:30 a.m.

It is expected to turn into a high-level meeting with other government chiefs, possibly including President Johnson, appearing at later stages.

The main debate is scheduled to begin Monday. The United States will lead off, followed by Kosygin, who will launch the Soviet drive for U.N. censure of Israel and for a withdrawal of Israeli troops from occupied areas of Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Saturday's meeting will be devoted to formalities.

The secretary-general called the emergency session after a majority of the 122 member nations gave their approval to a Soviet request.

A U.N. spokesman said Belgium handed in an affirmative reply at 9:30 a.m. and this made the 62 required.

Only the United States and Israel declined to concur.

Amid speculation that Kosygin's first visit to the United States would also produce his first meeting with Johnson and a summit discussion on Vietnam, White House press officer George Chrstian said Thursday that the President "would, of course, be glad to see" the Soviet premier if Kosygin wants to see Johnson.

Secretary-General U Thant, polling the 122 U.N. members on the Soviet request for the assembly session, Thursday night needed only one more favorable reply to make the majority of 62 that would oblige him to call it with 24 hours.

U.N. sources said that if the clinching reply was on his desk

LBJ, Kosygin Will Discuss Viet, Mideast

Diplomats And U.S. Officials Figuring At Least One Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin are expected to discuss the Vietnamese war and peace possibilities as well as the Middle East crisis if they talk during Kosygin's United Nations trip.

U.S. officials said it was inconceivable the two could get together without touching on several issues, particularly the Vietnamese conflict.

The White House said Thursday the President "would, of course, be glad to see" the Soviet premier if Kosygin wants to see the President.

But diplomats and American officials consider at least one talk between the two to be a certainty—unless Kosygin's conduct at an expected U.N. General Assembly session called for by Moscow is so violent against Israel and the United States that the resulting atmosphere would make a top-level talk impossible.

American diplomats who know Kosygin, however, say he is not likely to go to such extremes. He is regarded as tough but practical—concerned with concrete results.

2 Make Escape At Hancock Jail

Two inmates of the Hancock County jail at New Cumberland are being hunted after their escape shortly before midnight Thursday.

Thomas Lawrence Durbin, 19, of East Liverpool, who was serving two years for forgery and auto theft after a recent conviction, and John Peter Seay, 41, formerly of Pittsburgh, in jail for life on a 1958 conviction of rape, made their getaway between 11:30 and 11:40.

SEAY was brought back to Hancock County June 5 on a writ of habeaus corpus and was awaiting court action. The incident in 1958 took place there, although he was arrested in East Liverpool. He had been serving time in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville in Marshall County.

Deputies said Durbin is 5 feet 5, weighs 110 pounds, is of fair complexion, has brown hair, brown eyes and is small of build.

Seay, 5-foot-9, weighs 220, has fair complexion, heavy build, brown hair and gray eyes.

Deputies theorize the two escaped with Durbin's help. He had been made a trusty Thursday afternoon.

The officers said a trusty has a key to a gate at the entrance of the jail and one to the sheriff's office and is permitted to wash clothes in the downstairs section of the facility. This system is used since only one deputy mans the desk and he may not leave his post, it was explained. The trusty admits visitors, runs errands and performs some janitorial services throughout the building.

SEAY WAS locked in the kitchen where he serves as a cook. The men who prepare food also sleep in a bunk adjoining the food preparation section and may not leave there.

Officials believe Durbin went downstairs ostensibly to pick up laundry. Then, they say, he apparently unlocked the kitchen door and he and Seay made

36 Guerrillas Slain In Raid On Viet Post

500 Attacking Reds Broken Up Under Pounding From Air

SAIGON (AP) — An isolated South Vietnamese outpost battled a two-hour attack before dawn today by 500 guerrillas who broke under the pounding of air strikes.

On the bloodied field at dawn the South Vietnamese found 36 Communist dead and 30 weapons. In addition, the defenders took six prisoners from among the guerrillas who spearheaded into the position in the early assault.

The attack took place in coastal Phu Yen Province at a position in the foothills rolling up to the central highlands. The guerrillas were evidently after the adjoining village of Long Tuong, where a team of South Vietnamese pacification workers have recently begun to operate with the villagers.

The black-clad pacification workers stood with a force of headquarters troops from an army unit to defend the village. A South Vietnamese spokesman said flareships and air support quickly arrived over the harried post, and casualties were light among the defenders.

Man, 69, Confronts Youths

Boy Killed, 2nd Wounded In Raccoon Creek Area

An 18-year-old Pittsburgh area youth was dead, another wounded and an elderly Beaver County man injured as a result of a shooting incident this morning near Raccoon Creek State Park.

Killed was William E. Poskin of Oakdale, one of four youths and two girls involved in the incident with Robert MacChesney, 69, of 3828 Greengarden Rd., who apparently confronted the six on his property in Raccoon Township.

MacChesney was hospitalized, as was John Josey, 16, of Oakdale, who suffered a gunshot wound of the right eye, authorities said.

OTHERS IN the group of young people were Michael McGuane, 19, of Carnegie, Frank Stuckwish, 16, of Oakdale, Janet Bauncant, 15, of MacDonald R.D. 1 and Debra Poskin, 17, sister of the dead youth.

Pennsylvania state police, Beaver County detectives and other authorities were continuing an investigation today.

Officers said the six young people, after visiting an abandoned house owned by MacChesney along McVess Rd. near Service Creek Rd., were confronted about 5 a.m. by MacChesney who was holding a pistol and shotgun.

A scuffle ensued and shots were fired, but details of the incident remain uncertain, officers said late this morning.

MacCHESNEY reportedly owns some 50 acres of land on which the abandoned house is located, not far from the Ambridge Reservoir.

Robert Burchlen of nearby Calhoun Rd. reported a girl ran to his house shortly after 5 a.m. and said, "Some old man has shot my brother."

She said the group of teenagers had been to the reservoir to fish.

The youth's body was found about 35 feet off the roadway.

Neighbors said MacChesney had been concerned about vandalism at the old house and had been sleeping in the area recently in an apparent effort to prevent entry or catch any vandals.

The elderly man was admitted to Aliquippa with bruises of the head and arm and a cut of the right side of the face which he said resulted from a beating at the hands of the other youths.

Josey was in "fair" condition of the hospital with the eye wound.

Kidder Awarded DFC

Further Military Honors Bestowed On Area Major

Maj. James R. Kidder Jr., son of Mrs. Hazel L. Kidder of Chester R.D. 1, has added eight combat decorations, including the Distinguished Flying Cross, to his military awards.

Recent honors include six awards of the Air Medal and the Air Force Commendation Medal for his aerial skill and heroic leadership in supporting ground operations in Vietnam.

The major, as a member of the U. S. Advisory Group, has flown 320 missions in light aircraft as a forward air controller and has served as an air liaison officer for the Vietnamese Army's 3rd Corps, with headquarters at the Bien Hoa base.

Maj. Kidder received the coveted DFC for his heroism while directing air strikes in defense of allied troops under heavy mortar attack. He flew through a constant hail of anti-aircraft fire for two hours in order to lead fighter aircraft against the enemy. As a result of his courage and guidance, the allied unit was saved and the enemy suffered numerous casualties.

Maj. Kidder received the Commendation Medal for his achievement in leading a recovery team through enemy territory and under small arms fire

Court Ruling On Crucible Likely Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court may rule today on Crucible Steel Co.'s request for permission to hold a stockholders meeting.

Crucible told the court Wednesday it needs to get stockholder approval for a plan to raise money. Otherwise, it won't be able to keep up with competitors, the firm said.

But an attorney for a group of dissident stockholders said the meeting isn't urgent.

"While we do not want to do anything that would hurt Crucible or prevent it from competing in the market, we see no necessity for a special meeting of shareholders at this time," said attorney Max Wildman. "We fail to see the urgency of this request."

Crucible had to ask the Illinois court for permission to hold the meeting because a temporary injunction obtained by financier Morris Rubin of Chicago has blocked such meetings for two years.

Fair Weather Slated At Outing For Potters

Amid predictions of continued fair, warm weather, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters today put the finishing touches on plans for the 39th annual Potters Picnic Saturday at Meyers Lake Park in Canton.

Rides throughout the park, with four exceptions, will be free from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The formal program includes a baby show at 1, followed immediately by a penny scramble, and a "junior bathing beauty" contest at 3.

The picnic committee said persons in picnic attire will be admitted to the park's Lake Shore Restaurant until 6 p.m. But coats and ties are required for men after 6 in a general tightening of the rules on attire, the committee said.

Union Pledge Eases Fears Of Walkout

House Rejects LBJ Plan On Rail Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A defiant House rejected President Johnson's bid to guarantee settlement of a nationwide rail strike but a union pledge eased fears most U.S. trains will halt Monday.

Senate refusal to accept the surprise action — in which the House approved a 90-day no-strike extension but killed Johnson's proposal for a compulsory settlement if negotiations failed — could block indefinitely passage of legislation.

But the Railway Labor Executive Association, spokesman for 137,000 shopcraft union workers, pledged not to call a strike if the legislation goes to a House-Senate conference. The union organization's statement was read on the floor Thursday by Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., of the House Commerce Committee.

That appeared a temporary lifesaver for congressmen who don't want to be blamed for a strike but don't want to be connected with a compulsory settlement, either.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Senate sponsor of the Johnson measure, called the House action "a legislative mockery" and said he'd urge Senate conferees to reject it. The Senate earlier had passed the administration bill.

The House action, taken without members having to go on record as to how they voted, was in part a reaction to two days of intensive administration pressure to approve the Senate-passed bill without any changes.

It also represented resentment on the part of many members at being forced to vote on a proposal which closely resembled compulsory arbitration, strongly opposed by organized labor.

The action constitutes the second rebuff by the House to Johnson's prestige in eight days. Last week it rejected an administration measure to increase the ceiling on the national debt.

It came against the opposition of not only the President but also the leaderships of both parties, who warned members they were only delaying what Speaker John W. McCormack called "the day of reckoning."

Left in the measure were provisions for creation of a five-member board to mediate, hold public hearings and recommend a settlement. The administration measure then would have made this recommendation a binding settlement until the parties reached agreement or until Jan. 1, 1969.

The decisive turn of events came on an amendment by Rep. Claude D. Pepper, D-Fla., to eliminate from the administraiton bill the section providing for compulsory settlement if the two parties fail to reach agreement in the 90-day period.

It was adopted 189 to 105.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What are some of the most popular first-aid methods of dealing with spots and stains?

A.—White vinegar dissolves acid stains. Glycerin, a wet-cleaning lubricant. Petroleum jelly or white mineral oil, for use as a dry-cleaning lubricant. Hydrogen peroxide for stains that require a mild bleach. Carbon tetrachloride, the most-often-used dry solvent. Chlorine bleach for stains requiring a strong bleach. White blotting paper, or paper toweling. A small, stiff-bristled brush

Q.—Some of my floors show little white spots, the result of an attack by mildew. What can I do about this?

A.—Wash with water containing a little kerosene, or with soap and water. Standard paint cleaner usually removes mildew from painted surfaces such as around the woodwork.

Q.—Is there a good homemade glue or cement that will stick glass to glass, leather to metal, or other such tricky combinations?

A.—One of the best all-purpose glues you've ever used can be produced by burning shellac in a dish to get rid of the alcohol.

Q.—How can I impart an added good taste to mashed potatoes?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

About 30 per cent of the entire population in the United States is in school or college. This amounts to approximately 55.1 million persons between the ages of 5 and 34, or 8.8 million more students than in 1960. Enrollment in college and professional schools has increased 70 per cent since 1960.

LBJ-Premier

Assembly session in 1960 and waged a bitter campaign against the United States, pounding the desk with his shoe. There was no talk with President Dwight D. Eisenhower that time.

Kosygin's trip to the United Nations is regarded here as a dramatic gesture to convince the Arab states the Soviet Union is going all the way in its support for them and its opposition to Israeli conquests in last week's war.

U. S. officials expect angry attacks on the U.S. role in the Middle East as Kosygin and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko seek to consolidate Soviet influence in the Arab world and turn Arab sentiment into bitter anti-Americanism. But they expect Kosygin will try to keep the damage to direct U.S.-Soviet relations limited.

The Soviet foreign office announced Thursday Kosygin's trip to New York a few hours before he was scheduled to leave Moscow with an itinerary that includes a Paris conference with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Later Thursday Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin returned here from conferences in Moscow. He was about a month or six weeks later than originally expected. The delay was believed caused by Soviet policy reviews and perhaps new decisions on domestic, military and foreign questions.

Among those questions which could come up in a Johnson-Kosygin meeting are proposals for a treaty to block the spread of nuclear weapons and Johnson's proposal to Kosygin earlier this year that the United States and Moscow freeze work on missile defense systems in order to avoid a costly new round in the nuclear arms race.

White House press officer George Christian left open the possibility Johnson might go to the expected special assembly session, though the United States contends the meeting is unnecessary.

Johnson reportedly does not plan to attend as head of his country's delegation, but if U.S. interests seemed to require him to go there and make a speech he undoubtedly would do so. This is the kind of possibility which Christian evidently wished not to foreclose.

Standby Blueprint Prepared

Rationing Unlikely, But U.S. Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — If wartime rationing should ever become necessary again, the government has a standby blueprint ready along with other nonmilitary mobilization plans.

But don't get edgy.

Federal planners gauging the impact of the Vietnam war on the U.S. economy stress they see no need on the horizon for rationing, a fading memory of World War II.

"I don't know of any substantial, serious proposal that we have on rationing or wage and price controls," says a top official of the Office of Emergency Planning — OEP.

Any presidential bid for rationing would need congressional approval before the blueprint became effective.

However, no one in Congress seems to be worrying aloud about rationing although there have been some mentions of the possibility of going back to wage-price controls.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., says he sees no likelihood of wage-price action by Congress this session "although pressure for it will be building up." And Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., says any substantial broadening of the war will require more controls because of "soft spots in the economy."

A spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers said that organization has given no thought to the return of controls. More emphatic was a spokesman for the President's Council of Economic Advisers who said the need for them is "as close to zero as you can get."

Still, OEP is ready to go if the wind changes.

Materials from which ration stamps and books could be printed are in standby storage right now in many parts of the country. Their existence isn't a secret but people are forever "discovering" it and raising concern about any imminent return of rationing.

When such a flap arises OEP explains that this is just preparedness material, put out at the local level because in a future war there might not be time to distribute it from Washington.

Should a really big war come, coordination of all nonmilitary mobilization would be centralized in the Office of Defense Resources, an agency that now exists just on paper. The head man would be America's "mobilization czar," an OEP official said.

By presidential order, OEP and other federal agencies engaged in preparedness planning draw up their proposals to meet emergencies on an ascending scale. At the bottom is "international tension" then limited war, general war, and finally national attack.

Some of the preparations for this last category strike a grim note in a nation which has escaped serious invasion since the War of 1812;

— To help wandering and homeless families find missing loved ones after an attack the Post Office Department has in readiness a registration system that in effect would be a refugee tracer service.

— The Federal Reserve Board has stored $18 billion in new bills in vaults around the country to keep the currency in circulation at normal levels for two years in case the Bureau of Engraving is destroyed.

— More than 2,600 packaged disaster hospitals have been stored throughout the country. When uncrated, each contains everything needed for a 200-bed hospital except the building.

— Several hundred radio stations are receiving fallout protection for their transmitters so they could remain on the air after an attack. These same stations are receiving emergency power generators — a number of which got a workout in the big 1965 blackout.

— The $6.8-billion stockpile of strategic and critical materials includes 180,000 pounds of opium to be used in pain-relieving drugs after any nuclear attack.

The stockpile is a group of 77 minerals, pharmaceuticals and other substances stored against the possibility of wartime shortage. One thing that isn't stockpiled is food-basics such as flour.

While plans in the "national attack" category may never get a tryout, some at the limited war level are in use now.

The Business and Defense Services Administration, a unit within the Department of Commerce, has for about two years been managing war production by following the procedures it had framed years before.

It makes the decisions that expedites one defense order at the expense of another when both carry priorities. Because of the Vietnam buildup it is being called on to intervene in 9,000 such priority longjams a year.

OEP's $7-million budget and $4 million for related agencies, plus the proposed $111-million budget of the Office of Civil Defense, are the major units in departments engaged in nonmilitary preparedness planning. That's about half the cost of a diesel-powered aircraft carrier.

One by one, diseases that struck dread in the hearts of people have become medical rarities through continuous progress of the twin sciences of Medicine and Pharmacy.

The list of victories is long. There will be more in years to come, as knowledge expands and even more effective drugs are introduced. Part of our professional responsibility to you is to have the newest drugs available when your doctor prescribes them for you.

The Next 50 Years

It is not possible to measure the full extent of benefits which the Agriculture Extension Service has rendered to Columbiana County's communities and residents in the past 50 years.

No listing of agriculture, home economics and 4-H programs can place in true perspective the effects the Extension Service staff and their advice, suggestions, literature, meetings and inspiration have had on young and old.

Modern farm practices, family and home efficiency, youth training and development have been utilized in thousands of homes in the county, with countless individuals learning new ideals, new responsibilities, new ways of doing things to improve themselves, their families and their neighborhoods.

The people who have gone into extension service — such as Floyd Lower who was county agent for 37 years and the current staff at Lisbon — have a devotion to serving others that has been exemplary.

Columbiana County and its rural and urban residents owe a real expression of gratitude to the Extension Service and its workers, past and present.

We offer congratulations to the Service, and hope the accomplishments of the past 50 years will match even half of those of the next. Knowing the people in E. S., we believe the benefits to the county probably will be double.

Potters Picnic

Rain or shine — and it's likely to be both Saturday — the annual Potters Picnic generally offers a lot of fun for youngsters and older folks.

Tomorrow's fete will be the 39th of the summer outings of the potters. It may or may not be the best or biggest, but it should be a lot of enjoyment for the thousands who will attend as a part of tri - state tradition we hope will never cease.

Big Trucks Roll In Money

This scene is repeated daily all over Ohio — a sure sign the state is on the move.

To some motorists a tractor-trailer outfit is just smelly, road-destroying traffic nuisance.

The truth is, every commercial carrier on an Ohio road represents a huge sum of tax money, improved roads, thousands of trucking company employes and a lifeline of supplies to other industries, wholesalers and retailers.

When Ohio truckers say, "If you've got it, a truck brought it," they aren't stretching the facts.

Ohio Trucking Association reports the Ohio trucking industry accounts for about one out of eight gainfully employed persons in the state, has an annual payroll near $2 billion and pays more than $150 million yearly in special state and federal highway use taxes.

That is $150 million Ohio motorists don't have to pay for highway construction and maintenance.

Taxes paid to local governments from registration fees and fuel taxes by owners and operators of these trucks amounted to $1.6 million.

Some Buckeye state residents may not be aware of it, but Ohio is the ruling monarch in the kingdom of truck and truck body manufacturing.

Firms making truck parts and accessories are scattered throughout the state, adding to Ohio's economic vitality.

As is to be expected in a state where trucking is a big business, Ohio is a big consumer of new trucks, ranking in the top states in the nation.

Ohio's agricultural prowess is well-known. Nearly all its produce, livestock and poultry are shipped to national markets by truck.

There is no doubt the trucking industry is important to Ohio.

Ohio's economic staff of life has dual wheels and a heavy-duty gearbox.

After all, his tractor asd trailer account for about $3,500 a year in taxes alone — and as long as the trucks keep rolling, Ohio's economy keeps rolling, too.

Ten-Shun!

An Army private from Cleveland is facing a court-martial on charges of desertion in one of the most unusual AWOL cases in history.

Pvt. Thomas J. Cuchal is charged with being away without official leave for eight months. But he drew Army pay for half that time and claims he lived at Ft. Meade, Md., (the post he was supposed to be AWOL from most of the time.).

The young soldier reports he wandered about the post as he wished, using various facilities, including a hospital. This all occurred while he was listed as a deserter and was being searched for by the FBI.

Pvt. Cuchal admits he hates the Army and wants out of it. But the fact remains he made a farce out of post restriction procedures and showed how sloppy the Army can be in some of its bookkeeping.

That the system, in the words of Pvt. Cuchal, was "pretty easy" to beat is a good indication the Army needs to give spit-and-polish attention to something besides its boots.

On The Move

WASHINGTON

The Supreme Court, since Earl Warren became chief justice in 1953, has done more to liberalize American life than any court in history, but not because it was radical in any sense.

Liberals control the nine - man court now—5 to 4—but theirs has been a cautious liberalism although they have angered different groups at different times in American society by their decisions.

Previous courts had been much more conservative. But what distinguishes this court from its predecessors has been its willingness to confront issues that had been unresolved for decades.

In doing so, however, the court was facing in many instances issues whose solution was inevitable sooner or later, because of the obvious march of events, had to be solved at the time they were.

THE MOST famous example was the decision in 1954 outlawing segregation in public schools. But the march towards that decision had begun as early as 1916. Before that the court had accented segregation as constitutional.

In 1916 it knocked out a Louisville, Ky., city ordinance as discriminatory and thereafter, although slowly at first, it banned various forms of segregation from railroad trains to restrictive covenants to graduate schools.

Bit by bit the walls were knocked down. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People delayed asking a ban on public school segregation until the court had established a consistent pattern of desegregation in various areas of American life.

So, for the Warren court in 1954 to turn down the school case would have been a reversal of the trend the previous courts had followed. Besides, the United States, trying for leadership in a world which was mostly nonwhite, had become highly self - conscious about its treatment of American Negroes.

Therefore, the court, instead of being ahead of the times, was trying to keep up with them although the school case was one of the most far-reaching in the court's history.

In the 1940's the court refused to stick its nose into a problem which by then had become an obvious and unfair problem: All over the country, because of old laws dating back to the time when the rural population dominated, the dwindling rural populations had representation in their state legislatures far out of proportion to their numbers. This was unfair to the more heavily populated cities.

Finally, the Warren court in 1962 did what earlier courts in justice and fairness should have done: It ordered state legislatures to reapportion themselves. This took courage for the court to do, particularly since Congress itself never had the courage or the willingness to tackle this problem.

AS SOCIETY began to bulge with population —a condition which makes police work tougher and, as a result, could lead to the trampling of individual rights—the court began a whole series of decisions, far from ended, to protect such rights. In the process it narrowed police powers.

There is nothing extreme in any of this. Actually, the court was simply catching up with concerns and obligations which previous courts had long neglected or comfortably ignored.

In the course of its courageous facing of realities the court has put new life and new meaning into the Constitution.

That document, written almost 200 years ago, was the result of basic considerations about the role of the state and the people in a democratic society and it was based on what the founding fathers had learned from history.

But those brilliant men were products of their time and could not, and did not, try to lay down a rigid yardstick for American life forever. One miracle of that document is its flexibility.

The Warren court has exercised its flexibility. Some of its critics think it is rewriting the Constitution. But in a fast - changing world, to stand still is to die. The Warren court has chosen not to stand still.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Now that the 1967 Dollars for Scholars Campaign is over and the scholarships awarded, I would like to express a big thanks to all those workers who helped raise the unprecedented $482.91 in the Chester and Lawrenceville house-to-house drive! I never was able to get a complete list of the many who braved the elements on that rainy March Sunday afternoon.

It could be you know an Oak Glen graduate who applied for a scholarship this year and was disappointed. Chances are the child did qualify; but there was just not enough money. Rather than blame The Citizens' Scholarship Foundation, you can help change things another year. Do you work for a business or industry that did not contribute liberally? Or do you belong to an organization that didn't donate? Now is the time to approach them and get it into the budget for next year.

Probably most important of all — did you give? And you, yourself, could volunteer to help in 1968. It is a very satisfying experience.

Just for the record, Oak Glen raised exactly $3,268 but received $3,850 in scholarships, divided among 11 winners. This means that Oak Glen Area received $581 more than it actually raised.

Again, thanks to each Division Chairman and every individual, business and industry who was instrumental in giving eleven deserving boys and girls the boost they needed. Let's serve more in 1968!

Labor Scuttles Arab Cargo

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK — Even before there was blood on the sands of the Sinai, an intelligence alert was flashed along all U.S. and Canadian coasts by American waterfront labor leaders. The word went out to locate every ton of cargo, in every ship, in every port, loaded or waiting to be loaded, bound for any and all Arab League nations.

Victor Riesel

Messages arrived swiftly. In a few days, the Sefarers' Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO's 600,000 member Maritime Trades Dept., knew of $1 billion worth of such freight on order by the Arabs.

He and his colleagues learned that there were 43 ships in U.S. and Canadian ports, some with the goods and grain already in their holds and some still awaiting dockside tonnage.

The American waterfront labor leaders then were ready to implement their long-planned ultra-secret "Operation — Target Cargo" aimed at starving Arab lands and crippling their low level economies.

"OPERATION — Target Cargo" is skillfully designed to go for the jugular of Israel's enemies — the same nations which have been harassing American seamen for years. It hits at the cargoes moving to—and from—Arab ports in the ships of any nation including our own. Picketing the four or five United Arab Republic vessels which put into American habors is dramatic and symbolic. But the Arabs don't haul 10 per cent of their imports or exports in their own craft. Over 90 per cent of their oceanborne economic lifeblood is in foreign freighters — American, British, Liberian, Greek, etc.

It took intricate intelligence operations by the Maritime Trades Dept. to locate all the Arab-bound tonnage. This remains the unions' secret. But the details were ferreted out — and the first of the targets were and are the food shipments scheduled to leave for Arab lands in June and July. These may still be hit.

The freighters marked for immediate target action(such as the Liberian ship The Pheax, which early last week was in a Canadian harbor loading 21,000 tons of wheat for Algeria) carry corn, barley, wheat, vegetable oil and dried milk. Some were scheduled for Egypt, some for Tunisia, some for Morocco.

These food shipments are government-generated U.S. "give-away" cargoes dispatched under Public Law 480. Tunisia, which sent soldiers to bolster Gen. Nasser, was set to receive, for example, 36,000 tons of barley in four freighters. Some has been loaded. Some not. Egypt was to get flour, dried milk and cornmeal in four ships. Morocco has been awaiting heavy tonnage of wheat and corn in 11 ships.

A GREEK VESSEL, the World Glade, is scheduled to take on 25,000 tons of wheat in U.S. gulf ports later this month for delivery to Morocco. At the same time, Hall's men targeted the Alexander Voyazides, set to take on 13,500 tons of barley in a California port for Tunisia.

Food shipments are set for Algeria (wheat); Jordan (four and vegetable oil); Iraq (flour and vegetable oil); Lebanon (flour).

The AFL-CIO waterfront strategists have not decided what action to take. The situation is too fluid.

But the apparatus will be kept intact to hit India if New Delhi continues to bait the U.S. while Washington keeps feeding the subcontinental nation.

Far more than food is involved in "Operation — Target Cargo." The waterfront men now have a complete schedule of spare parts, cloth, light machinery, etc., destined for the Arab lands. Without these, say the project directors, the Arab lands would crack because it would take months to readjust themselves to the U.S. maritime boycott by finding new sources of supply in a wartime world.

THERE'S NOTHING COY in the friendship of American labor leaders for Israel. For many years now, they have been close to Israel's labor movement, Histradrut — which now has almost a million members. During the first hours' fighting, Louis Stulberg, the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) president, learned that the hospital the ILGWU has been built in Beersheba, Israel, had gone on a war footing — but that five babies were born during the cannonading — all boys, two of them Bedouins.

The Teamsters moved swiftly too. When they learned that the Israeli bus system had become inoperative because both men and women were mobilized and because all trucking was militarized, Joe Konowe, assistant to the Teamsters national president, headed for Israel. He's still trying to get there for a survey which will be followed by a stream of volunteer American truckdrivers and longshoremen.

This is only part of the story. But it is evidence enough to show the shadowy outline of a vast machine which can hit high gear while others in more polished and diplomatic halls specialize in verbal high indignation.

Odd Facts

The country with the highest percentage of illiteracy in the world is Liberia, Africa, with about 95 per cent. Following this are India with about 82 per cent, Guatemala with about 72 per cent and Bolivia with about 69 per cent.

What is said to have been the first long-distance auto race was one from Peking to Paris, promoted by a Paris newspaper in 1907. The route covered between 8,000 and 9,000 miles across trackless deserts and unbridged rivers.

Jascha Heifetz, famed violinist, began to play in public when he was six. His Berlin debut at the age of 13 brought him international fame.

Dissent

By David Lawrence

Court's Ruling Raises Question

In Russia, a person can't get or keep a job unless he conforms to the rules and discipline of the trade unions set up by the Communist party. There is no "right of dissent."

In the United States, a judicial oligarchy of five men has just taken away from members of trade unions this same right and placed them under the discipline of labor organizations.

The U. S. Supreme Court by a 5-to-4 decision has ruled that if workers do not abide by union rules, they may be punished by the union.

They can no longer assert their right to work and to cross a picket line. To do so means risking financial penalties.

This decision overrides the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act, wherein Congress forbade either an employer or a union to "restrain or coerce" workers in the exercise of their right to "refrain from" concerted activities.

The Court majority held that since the union was the designated bargaining agent for employes, it could set up rules that bound all of them. Yet the union is itself not the employer.

It is merely the agent of the employes, and, when it makes a contract, it does so on behalf of the employes, who can ratify or reject it.

BUT THE NEW Supreme Court ruling says a union group has the power, when a strike starts, to decide that an employe cannot continue to work for his employer even if he wishes to do so.

Much has been heard lately about the sacred "right of dissent."

Some individuals, to be sure, have misused this right as a justification for disregard of statutes governing law and order.

When protests are merely expressions of individual opinions and no public law is violated, the principle of dissent is recognized as a constitutional privilege. Apparently a labor union now can make its own laws on a parity with public legislation.

The "right of dissent" has been vehemently espoused by "liberals," but oddly enough, most of them have never taken a stand against the arbitrary action of unions in depriving a worker of his individual rights.

There are 30 states, for instance, which permit labor unions to deny a job to anyone who isn't willing after 30 to 60 days to join the union.

The worker may have conscientious objections to unionization and may wish to do his own bargaining with the employer, but such individual freedom is denied.

In fact, the "right to work" is taken away from the citizen unless he accepts the system of conformity by coercion.

Even Justices Douglas and Black, who often have been found on the "liberal" side in decisions of the high court, joined this time with Justices Stewart and Harlan in declaring that the latest ruling, in effect, extinguishes the right of dissent by individual labor-union members.

IN THE VIEW of the four justices in the minority the "real reason" for the majority's ruling is its "policy judgment" that, in order to increase their strength, labor unions need the power to impose fines on dissenters who are unwilling to join a strike and to "enforce those fines in court."

The minority opinion says, in part:

"It is one thing to say that Congress did not wish to interfere with the union's power, similar to that of any other kind of voluntary association, to prescribe specific conditions of membership. It is quite another thing to say that Congress intended to leave unions free to exercise a court-like power to try and punish members with a direct economic sanction for exercising their right to work."

There is plenty of criticism over the high courts tendency to legislate in disregard of the will of Congress and of the principles of freedom imbedded in the Constitution.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno of Pennsylvania's supreme court said recently:

"I am not being disrespectful when I say that the Supreme Court of the United States has become a super-congress . . . .

"I do not mean to say that the Supreme Court has not at times legislated wisely . . . But as a student of law, I would say that the Supreme Court has no right to legislate at all."

It seems ironic that with the hue and cry currently about the "right of dissent," the words of the First Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantee "freedom of speech," have been summarily brushed aside by a majority of the highest court in the land.

The Next 50 Years

It is not possible to measure the full extent of benefits which the Agriculture Extension Service has rendered to Columbiana County's communities and residents in the past 50 years.

No listing of agriculture, home economics and 4-H programs can place in true perspective the effects the Extension Service staff and their advice, suggestions, literature, meetings and inspiration have had on young and old.

Modern farm practices, family and home efficiency, youth training and development have been utilized in thousands of homes in the county, with countless individuals learning new ideals, new responsibilities, new ways of doing things to improve themselves, their families and their neighborhoods.

The people who have gone into extension service — such as Floyd Lower who was county agent for 37 years and the current staff at Lisbon — have a devotion to serving others that has been exemplary.

Columbiana County and its rural and urban residents owe a real expression of gratitude to the Extension Service and its workers, past and present.

We offer congratulations to the Service, and hope the accomplishments of the past 50 years will match even half of those of the next. Knowing the people in E. S., we believe the benefits to the county probably will be double.

Potters Picnic

Rain or shine — and it's likely to be both Saturday — the annual Potters Picnic generally offers a lot of fun for youngsters and older folks.

Tomorrow's fete will be the 39th of the summer outings of the potters. It may or may not be the best or biggest, but it should be a lot of enjoyment for the thousands who will attend as a part of tri - state tradition we hope will never cease.

Big Trucks Roll In Money

A large rig edges past as inbound carrier, chugs out of a bee-hive terminal and heads for the open road.

This scene is repeated daily all over Ohio — a sure sign the state is on the move.

To some motorists a tractor-trailer outfit is just smelly, road-destroying traffic nuisance.

The truth is, every commercial carrier on an Ohio road represents a huge sum of tax money, improved roads, thousands of trucking company employes and a lifeline of supplies to other industries, wholesalers and retailers.

When Ohio truckers say, "If you've got it, a truck brought it," they aren't stretching the facts.

Ohio Trucking Association reports the Ohio trucking industry accounts for about one out of eight gainfully employed persons in the state, has an annual payroll near $2 billion and pays more than $150 million yearly in special state and federal highway use taxes.

That is $150 million Ohio motorists don't have to pay for highway construction and maintenance.

Taxes paid to local governments from registration fees and fuel taxes by owners and operators of these trucks amounted to $1.6 million.

Some Buckeye state residents may not be aware of it, but Ohio is the ruling monarch in the kingdom of truck and truck body manufacturing.

Firms making truck parts and accessories are scattered throughout the state, adding to Ohio's economic vitality.

As is to be expected in a state where trucking is a big business, Ohio is a big consumer of new trucks, ranking in the top states in the nation.

Ohio's agricultural prowess is well known. Nearly all its produce, livestock and poultry are shipped to national markets by truck.

There is no doubt the trucking industry is important to Ohio.

Ohio's economic staff of life has dual wheels and a heavy-duty gearbox.

After all, his tractor asd trailer account for about $3,500 a year in taxes alone — and as long as the trucks keep rolling, Ohio's economy keeps rolling, too.

The "right of dissent" has been vehemently espoused by "liberals," but oddly enough, most of them have never taken a stand against the arbitrary action of unions in depriving a worker of his individual rights.

There are 30 states, for instance, which permit labor unions to deny a job to anyone who isn't willing after 30 to 60 days to join the union.

The worker may have conscientious objections to unionization and may wish to do his own bargaining with the employer, but such individual freedom is denied.

In fact, the "right to work" is taken away from the citizen unless he accepts the system of conformity by coercion.

Even Justices Douglas and Black, who often have been found on the "liberal" side in decisions of the high court, joined this time with Justices Stewart and Harlan in declaring that the latest ruling, in effect, extinguishes the right of dissent by individual labor-union members.

IN THE VIEW of the four justices in the minority the "real reason" for the majority's ruling is its "policy judgment" that, in order to increase their strength, labor unions need the power to impose fines on dissenters who are unwilling to join a strike and to "enforce those fines in court."

The minority opinion says, in part:

"It is one thing to say that Congress did not wish to interfere with the union's power, similar to that of any other kind of voluntary association, to prescribe specific conditions of membership. It is quite another thing to say that Congress intended to leave unions free to exercise a court-like power to try and punish members with a direct economic sanction for exercising their right to work."

There is plenty of criticism over the high courts tendency to legislate in disregard of the will of Congress and of the principles of freedom imbedded in the Constitution.

Justice Michael A. Musmanno of Pennsylvania's supreme court said recently:

"I am not being disrespectful when I say that the Supreme Court of the United States has become a super-congress . . . .

"I do not mean to say that the Supreme Court has not at times legislated wisely . . . But as a student of law, I would say that the Supreme Court has no right to legislate at all."

It seems ironic that with the hue and cry currently about the "right of dissent," the words of the First Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantee "freedom of speech," have been summarily brushed aside by a majority of the highest court in the land.

Mishaps Hurt Cyclist, Boy

An Industry man was injured in a motorbike accident on the Industry - Fairview Rd. Thursday afternoon and a youth was hurt in a bicycle mishap at the same site later.

Nick Ratkovich, 21, of Willowbrook Dr. suffered a fractured left shoulder and bruises of the back and shoulder when thrown to the pavement after the front wheel of the motorbike locked as he was descending a hill just off Route 68 at 2:40 p. m.

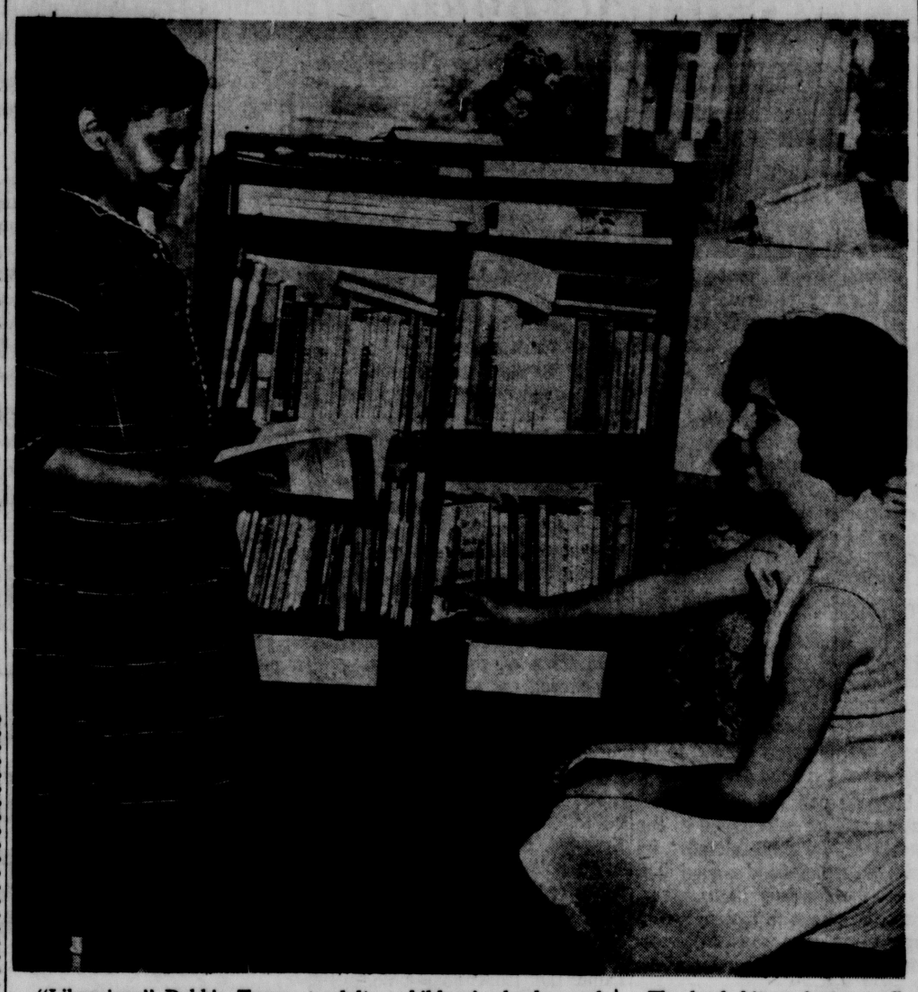
He was taken to an Aliquippa physician for treatment.

Tom Vogt, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Vogt of Ohio Ave., Industry, received a cut on the left leg and chin and was knocked unconscious when his bike struck the iron bridge at the same site at 6:40 p. m.

He was found by a playmate and taken to Rochester General Hospital by ambulance, treated and later released.

Patrolman Marko Ratkovich investigated both mishaps.

Book Kit Goes Into Use



"Librarians" Debbie Tyson, left, and Janet Morrison, of the East End survey the new VISTA book kit which has been placed in Wimpie's Barbecue on Pennsylvania Ave.

Sue Sperry and Ruthann Sutton, Columbiana County VISTAs, said the kit is a "sample" of 150 volumes designed to introduce people to reading.

The books are divided into three categories — those of interest to adults and young adults, children's books and reference material.

Debbie and Janet, along with Judy Williams, another assistant, see that borrowers properly register the books before taking them home. Anyone may have the books for two weeks, although reference material can be kept for only one week.

The books are displayed in a cardboard display case which is located just inside the door of Wimpie's, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter.

The book kit project was financed under a $200,000 grant to VISTA from the Fund for the Advancement of Education, the volunteers explained. Books were chosen which would be most helpful to the specific location where they will be read — urban areas, rural areas, migrant worker camps, Indian reservations and mental institutions.

Titles range from the classics to personal improvement and books to be read "just for enjoyment."

was reported today after some stiff fights Thursday in the northern part of the country. In those 95 Communist soldiers and 15 Americans were reported killed and 31 Americans wounded.

Heavy weather over North Vietnam limited American pilots Thursday to raids mainly against supply lines extending south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. But despite the weather, U.S. pilots flew 136 missions over the North Vietnam and Communist ground fire downed on F105 Thunderchief. It was the 584th U.S. combat plane lost over the north, and the pilot was missing.

The Army's Task Force Oregon announced it had pushed an armored convoy over 60 miles of Highway 1 and returned the main coastal road in that area to nominal government control after two years of domination by the guerrillas. The stretch is between Chu Lai and Duc Pho, in Quang Ngai and Quang Tin Provinces. The road was restored to government control after two weeks of sweeping the area.

Despite the announcement, most of Highway 1 from the demilitarized zone to Saigon is still subject to Viet Cong control or taxation or both.

U.S. Command reported that in the preceding 24 hours U.S. Marines and Task Force Oregon soldiers operating in the area had been in a series of actions ranging from pitched battles to jungle skirmishes.

It was in Operation Arizona that U.S. Marines fought a strong Communist force only 20 miles from the big Da Nang base and reported 35 Red soldiers and seven Marines killed and 10 Americans wounded.

Units of the 5th Marine Regiment fought for nearly five hours 25 miles south of Da Nang. The Marines said 15 Communists and eight Americans were killed and 19 Leathernecks were wounded.

Ten more American soldiers were killed and one was wounded Thursday when their armored personnel carrier touched off an American 250-pound bomb which guerrillas had rigged up as a mine on a road near Duc Pho, south of Da Nang.

Only scattered ground action was reported elsewhere.

Prayer Is Combined With Medical Practice

NEW DELHI (AP) — An Indian medical practitioner says that he combines prayer with his professional skill to good effect in curing his patients.

Popularly known as Swami Rama, he lives in Kashmir and is engaged in prayers when he is NOT treating patients.

He says that more things are wrought by prayer than what we dream of. It is not miracle but an easily explainable factor, he says.

Rama says this method was perfected by seers whose very touch healed hitherto declared incurable diseases. "Jesus was one such and did he not restore sight to the blind?" he asks.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean smoke-stained bricks?

A. — Mix two ounces baking soda, one ounce pumice stone, one ounce salt, and enough water to make a cream. Rub the bricks well with this mixture, allow to stand for a few minutes, then brush off.

Q. How can I thicken fruit or berry pies, other than by the use of cornstarch or flour?

A. — Try using a scant tablespoonful of quick - cooking tapioca. This not only adds flavor to the pie, but absorbs the excess juice.

Q. — How can I remove water stains from furniture?

A. — With hot vinegar. Rub over the spots, dry, then polish with furniture polish or linseed oil. To remove water spots from varnished furniture, use ammonia water, following by furniture polish.

Q. — How can I brighten up dull - looking pewter?

A. — Drop a small lump of potash into a quart of water, and soak the pewter about 24 hours. Then take it out and rub all over with a cork dipped in olive or mineral oil, following with a dry - chamois rubbing.

Q. — How can I discourage the invasions of ants into my household?

A. — Ants hate cucumber skin. Keep bits of this around their usual haunts. . .and these "guests" will no longer call on you.

Hills Employes Start Campaign To Aid Co-Worker Whose Home Was Destroyed By Fire.

Employees and executive personnel of Hills Dept. Store in Calcutta have initiated a fund drive for co-worker, Mrs. Izetta Williams of Wellsville, whose home and entire contents were destroyed in a fire Memorial Day, May 30.

Mrs. Williams, who is head of the Infants' Wear Dept. at Hills, has four children ranging from six to seventeen years of age. The family has been living with friends and relatives since the loss of their house and contents.

Exact cause of the fire has not been determined. It is believed to have been an explosion, or may have been started by a faulty refrigerator.

In making the presentation of $200.00 to Mrs. Williams, Mr. E. Fannin, Manager of Hills Store, praised the employees for their kindness and consideration and said, "I hope other local area residents would respond the same."

Anyone interested in helping the Williams family could send donations to Mrs. Jean McMillan (at Hills Dept. Store in Calcutta), who has been appointed to handle all contributions.

The fourth annual summer term of Hancock County schools will begin Monday at 8 a. m. for secondary students and at 8:30 for elementary students.

Both elementary and secondary students will attend classes on the Weir High School campus this year. The elementary students, who will be enrolled in a curriculum which has been limited to mathematics and reading, will meet in Building F.

Mary Fluharty, elementary curriculum co-ordinator, said that to date enrollment has been light in both mathematics and reading and that enrollment is still open. Opal Proudfoot will teach reading and Mildred Hodge mathematics.

THOMAS SHIELDS and Betty Shaw, Senior High School and Junior High School curriculum coordinators, said that enrollment in the secondary division is also light, but pointed out that enrollment is generally quite heavy on the first day of school.

Since the program is self-supporting, the operation of all classes depends upon enrollment. The complete curriculum of the secondary division and the faculty follow: English 7-12, Milton Weinberg, Harry West, and Louis Kuntupis; Reading 7 - 12, Lucy Sutton; Physical Education 7-12, Hugh Manley; Social Studies 7-12, Thomas Groves and Thomas Salvatti; Algebra 8-12, Charles Taylor, Modern Geometery 10-12, Phillip Cottrill; Modern Mathematics 7-9, Helen Woods; Field Biology 10-12 or Life Science 7-8, Bradley Wilcox; Physical Science 7-12; Charles Leveridge; Typewriting I or II 9-12, Margaret Faust; Independent Study, Karen Cunningham.

Contract Let For Work At District Lake

A bid has been awarded for the construction of roads, parking areas and boat ramps in conjunction with the development of the Highlandtown Lake recently created by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The Erskine Construction and Mining Co., Inc., will do the work on a bid some $6,000 under the original estimate of $110,700, according to Fred E. Morr, director of natural resources at Columbus.

The state controlling board formally released $152,300 Thursday for the lake program. The board followed recommendations of the Natural Resources Department in transferring $63,000 from funds budgeted for the Shawnee State Forest to finance early stages of the county project.

Phase 1 of the work, to include construction of two boat-launching ramps, parking for 54 boat trailers and cars and 70 cars, access roads, two latrines and two wells for drinking water, will begin immediately, Morr said.

Phase II, he announced, will include construction of the swimming beach and camping and picnicking areas. Planning the entire project is F. W. Stafford, consulting engineer.

The first phase, he said, is expected to be completed by September. The 170 - acre lake was recently completed along Ohio 39 between Wellsville and Salineville.

LBJ Hoping He Can Attend Fund Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson still hopes to attend a $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Democratic contributors in Austin, Tex., tonight, but the crisis in the Middle East and rail problems at home could interfere.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's planned visit to the United Nations to participate in Middle East talks and a congressional snarl over Johnson's legislation to avert a threatened rail strike may persuade Johnson to bypass the second annual Presidential Ball of the Southwest.

The White House said Thursday "we'll just have to wait and see" about Johnson's travel plans.

Sponsors expect about 1,500 guests from five Southwest states including wives and husbands who for the first time will get in free if their mate has a $1,000 ticket.

About 1,000 attended the first regional party affair in Houston in 1966, which Johnson also passed up.

In addition to being guest of honor at the political party, Johnson is to entertain Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia Saturday and Sunday at the LBJ Ranch.

The arrival of his first grandchild is expected possibly this weekend. Mrs. Johnson has been in Austin most of the week helping their daughter. Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent, make last-minute preparations.

Wandering Bear Gets Ride Into Mountains

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A 200-pound bear that wandered into the Albuquerque south valley got a tramway ride into the mountains recently after a two-night stayover in the Albuquerque zoo.

The bear was tranquilized and roped when found in a residential area of the valley.

Strapped into a box under the tramway used by tourists for the ride up the west side of the Sandias, the bear was carried to about the 8,500-foot level and released in a canyon.

Forest Service and Game Department employes were in charge of the operation.

Man Is Bound Over To Jury In Hancock

Robert Mercer of New Cumberland was bound over to the September term of the Hancock County Grand Jury by Squire John D. Herron Thursday on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Assurances Due Israel, Congress Members Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress overwhelmingly believes Israel should get assurances of national security and access to the Gulf of Aqaba and Suez Canal before it withdraws from captured Arab territory.

An Associated Press survey reached 438 of Congress' 534 members and 364 took without important qualification that view of assurances for Israel.

Among them were 42 senators and 322 House members.

Forty-one of those questioned gave qualified responses and 33 declined any expression. None said Israel should withdraw without any assurances.

At the time of the survey, the Soviet Union was pressing in the United Nations for a denunciation of Israel as an aggressor and for a U.N. call for Israeli withdrawal to borders existing before the Mideast hostilities.

Congress members were asked:

"Should Israel withdraw from captured Arab territories before her security is guaranteed and she is assured of free access to the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal?"

Often responses were keyed to the premise that future stability in the area demands changes from the pre-war situation.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said: "We simply can't have another armed truce for the next 20 years as we did the last 20. No, I don't think there should be any withdrawal until Israel and the Arab states have negotiated together toward a lasting agreement to protect the viability of all the nations of that area."

Congress is not for the moment approaching any action or formal expression on the Middle East situation. But congressional sentiment is one factor for the President to consider.

Some who took no stand in the AP survey did so on the ground that Congress ought to stand clear for the time being.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., put it this way: "The situation is highly delicate and I think it should be left in the hands of the President. I don't want to rock the boat."

On the other hand, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., made known he is working on a resolution he hopes the Senate will approve as a guide for U.S. policy. He said it would call for direct Arab- Israeli peace negotiations, backed by the major powers.

On May 23, a few days before fighting began, President Johnson restated long-standing U.S. policy of supporting the territorial integrity of every nation in the Middle East.

On June 13, after the swift Israeli victory, he reaffirmed the policy in response to a question but spoke in terms widely interpreted as implying the United States would not oppose territorial changes agreed to by the nations involved.

How the policy "will be effectuated will be determined by the events of the days ahead," he said. "It will depend a good deal upon the nations themselves, what they have to say and what their views are, what their proposals are after they have expressed them."

Beyond that, the President said his administration had peace in the area first in mind.

This hope appeared to underlie the preponderant sentiment in Congress, predicated on the idea that the occupied territory is leverage for forcing some agreement that will let the whole world breathe easier about the Middle East tinderbox.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., who was U.S. ambassador to Israel from 1959 to 1961, put it in one sentence. "No withdrawal should ocur," he said, "without completely new conditions of peace and stability obtaining."

Group Advances Plan For Vote At Wellsville

The Taxation Committee of the Ohio House Thursday approved a bill which would permit the Wellsville public school system to place a 5-mill additional levy before voters in a special election before classes reopen in the fall.

The measure, sponsored by State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, Columbiana County Republican, would raise the limit on special elections in one calendar year from one to two.

Wellsville voters rejected the 5-mill levy May 2 in a special election, prompting school officials to curtail extra-curricular activities to maintain competitive salary schedules for teachers.

Wellsville Supt. Lowell B. Myers told the taxation committee last month the Wellsville Board of Education would consider resubmitting the levy to the public late this summer to avoid the continued cutbaks — if the General Assembly would lift the prohibition against more than one special election this year.

The bill now is in the House Rules Committee awaiting assignment for floor action. However, the taxation committee refused to go along with another Wetzel bill requested by Wellsville officials to remove the requirement that school levies placed before voters in primaries in odd-numbered years and in all special elections receive 55 per cent favorable vote for passage.

The 55 per cent requirement sent Wellsville's levy down to defeat last month, despite a 52.1 per cent favorable vote on the issue.

Wetzel said he will try to revive the bill in the Senate, with possible assistance from State Sens. John Longsworth, R-Salem, and Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton.

If a recipe calls for one cup of fine cornflake crumbs, you'll need to crush four cups of cornflakes to make the required number of crumbs.

Coin Devices Are Rifled At Eagles Lodge

Two coin - operated machines were looted of an undetermined amount of change in a burglary early this morning at the Eagles Lodge on Broadway, police reported.

The intruder removed the coin receptacles from a music box and a cigarette vending machine, officers said. Both devices are owned by the Hune Co. of W. 8th St.

The burglar forced open a cash register on the back bar and another in the kitchen, but neither contained any money, lodge officials told police. A third register, also on the back bar, had been left open. Money which had been left in an envelope atop the register was undisturbed. Several drawers also had been forced open, yielding nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. Orphie Hissam, custodians of the lodge home, discovered the entry when they reported for work at 7:30. Lodge officials said the burglary occurred sometime after the 1 a.m. closing time.

Mr. and Mrs. Hissam reported the burglary to Stanley Krawiec, a trustee, and he notified police at 7:39 a. m. Patrolmen Orin C. Smith and Charles Coen arrived to investigate at 7:44.

Mr. and Mrs. Hissam said they found the front door unlocked when they reported for work. Walking through a hallway and down a flight of steps to the grill room, they found a one-way mirrior in the door had been smashed. The door also had been forced, officers said.

Police theorized that the intruder hid on the premises until after closing time and then forced his way into the grill room. The rifled coin boxes were found on the floor alongside the two machines, officers said.

Kissin' Cousin OK, Robbin' Cousin No

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Being kissed by a kissin' cousin is nice but being robbed by a friendly cousin is bad.

This was the experience of John Stevens and his wife after bringing the cousin with them from Chicago.

Stevens told police that his cousin went for a walk after the couple had retired. About 4 a.m. there was a knock on the door. The cousin, who had returned earlier, rushed to answer it.

Cousin and friend robbed the Stevenses of $600.

At 91 He's Cramming On Bible For Finals

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Worthington of Yonkers, N.Y., who is 91, was introduced at a lunch in Baltimore for retired persons.

He said he spent much of his time reading and traveling around the country to meetings of the American Association of Retired Persons.

The master of ceremonies asked him what he reads, Worthington said he reads the Bible quite a bit, and the master of ceremonies expressed surprise that a man 91 had not read the Bible.

"Oh, I've read it before," said Worthing, "but now I'm cramming for the finals."

Youth Patrol In Tampa Blames City For Rioting

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Young Negroes in the new, white-helmeted City Youth Patrol praised by the governor and city officials for soothing Negro tempers after two nights of rioting, blame the city for the uprisings.

Four leaders of the 150-man patrol told newsmen the violence was caused primarily by years of official indifference toward job opportunities and recreation by bigoted police and lack of simple human decency toward its Negro population.

But despite the criticism, city officials have begun a move to make the patrol a permanent arm of the police community relations board.

"I'm sure the mayor and the police chief are going to keep this thing moving — get these guys some uniforms," said James Hammond, Negro member of the city's biracial commission.

Police decided tension has eased sufficiently to pull the White Helmets off the streets Thursday night, and a heavy rain that began around dusk ensured another night of peace.

The young Negroes, whose dark faces were at times almost lost under white riot helmets meant for beefy patrolmen, did have praise for Sheriff Malcolm Beard, who decided Wednesday to hold back his riot-trained police and National Guard reinforcements so the teen-agers could try to police their own people.

Without guns or nightsticks, dressed in torn dungarees, shirts and sandals, they roamed the hot and humid streets of five Negro neighborhoods, convincing potential troublemakers that any more violence would only hurt the community further.

A federal investigator for the Small Business Administration estimated the cost of two nights of vandalism at $1.5 million.

Many were the same angry youths who hurled rocks and bottles during the rioting Sunday and Monday. But the word Wednesday night was, "Cool it, we don't need more trouble."

"Those boys in white hats did a marvelous job," said the sherifff. "A lot of those kids were probably throwing rocks Sunday night when we had all the trouble, but we gave them a job to do and they did it."

The patrol was born in 24 hours of discussions among Negro youths and adults Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. City officials also took part.

Some adults doubted it would work. Many volunteers had police records, some were high school dropouts, most had no jobs, some were married with families before they were out of their teens.

But broken into five 30-man squads with a team captain and two Negro patrolmen to help each squad, the patrol managed to handle two touch-and-go situations. Only once did Beard seriously consider using his troops.

"I'll give you 30 minutes to break that crowd up," he told patrol leaders as hundreds of Negroes massed in one of the riot areas. He had warned that if he had to use his men he would go in with no holds barred.

"Let's clear the corner and keep them out," a patrol member called as more than 70 Negroes excitedly surrounded a woman who had been stabbed in a bar fight. "We don't need their guns in here. Come on, please move."

The crowd did move.

"We showed them we can police ourselves. We don't need their bayonets," said Bennie Shuman, Tampa's only Negro bail bondsman. Shuman's small, storefront office, across Central Avenue from a mound of picked-over rubble that was a grocery store until five days ago, served as an unlikely command post for one squad.

"Bennie Shuman," the red lettering in the front window read. "Bail Bonds. Notary Public. Furnished rooms for rent."

Inside, a Negro woman checked off the white helmets duty at midnight and re-issued them to the overnight shift, assigned to work until 6 a.m.

A young lad in his early teens proudly accepted a helmet much too large for his rounded face.

"Hey Julia," he yelled over his shoulder as he went out the door. "If you get a chance, go down and tell my momma where I'm at."

"I'll tell your momma," the women answered.

"I do this to stop trouble from starting," said William Parker, a tall youth not yet out of his teens. "We can see these people (the police) have tanks and things. If something happens they'll bust out old people, babies and everything."

C. Blythe Andrews Jr., one of the adult advisers chosen by the youths, talked of a series of neighborhood mass meetings, tentatively set for next week, where patrol members could listen to "what the people really want."

Then they could present a united front to city hall.

There is no thought of disbanding the patrol, said Andrews.

"We called all the younger guys who know what's going on. Make no bones about it, we're the ones who are scared, but these kids aren't."

"We can show the other race," said Robert Dixon, "that we are capable of governing ourselves."

Gov. Claude Kirk has asked the patrol to form again Monday in the riot area so he can thank the members personally.

Local And Area Girls Take Course At Kent

Patricia Daily of Harding Ave. and Maisha Gieh of Hammondsville are among the 70 persons attending an orientation program at Kent State University.

The one-week training session will continue through Monday. The group will staff "Head Start" centers in northeastern Ohio this summer.

'Task Force' Approved By Methodists

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP) — Creation of a task force to seek ways of making society inclusive where Negroes can have equal opportunity in such areas as housing, education and employment has been approved by the Ohio Annual Conference on the Methodist Church.

The conference directed Thursday that the task force be made up of equal numbers of clergymen and laymen, both Negro and whites, but did not determine how many members it should have.

Director of the task force will be the Rev. John Wagner, an associate director of the Ohio Conference Inter-board Council at Columbus. Working for him will be committees on the inclusive church and minister, employment, education and housing and community relations.

A report on the work of the task force is to be made at the conference session next year.

A report on the Conference Board of Christian Social Concern, traditionally a major part of the conference session, was scheduled today.

Ministerial assignments for the coming year were announced by Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, resident bishop of the Ohio West Area of the Methodist Church.

Mariner 'Fixes' Tactical Error

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Mariner 5 spacecraft, which mistook earth for the star Canopus Wednesday, has corrected that slight tactical error and is rushing on course toward Venus.

The spacecraft, with solar panels and antennas, successfully locked on to the guiding star after initially picking up sunlight reflected from the earth's surface. Scientists said Thursday they ordered the craft to break its lock and continue searching for Canopus and it responded.

Mariner 5, racing along it about 7,000 miles an hour, is to pass within 2,000 miles of Venus Oct. 19 and send high-frequency radio signals through the planet's dense cloud cover to study radiation and atmosphere.

The craft may arrive at its destination at about the same time as Russia's bigger Venus probe craft.

Shafer Names New Head Of Public Instruction

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer has appointed Dr. A. G. Breidenstine of Lancaster acting superintendent of public instruction, effective Sunday.

Shafer announced at a news conference Thursday that he had accepted "with the greatest reluctance" Dr. J. Ralph Rackley resignation from the $30,000-a-year Cabinet post.

At the same time, the governor also announced that he had accepted "with deep regret" the resignation of Max Rosenn, 56, as secretary of public welfare.

However, Shafer did not name a replacement for Rosenn, a 56-year-old Wilkes-Barre attorney, pending legislative approval of a proposal to merge the Public Welfare and Health department

Rosenn had served in the $25,000-a-year Cabinet post for 15 months. His planned resignation to return to private law practice had been reported earlier in the week.

Rackley, 60, had announced late last year that he planned to return to Pennsylvania State University, where he has been on leave of absence since taking the DPI post in 1965. He is returning to Penn State as provost, a high-ranking administrative officer.

Breidenstine, 64, has been first executive deputy of Public Instruction since he joined the department in February, 1966. His starting salary was $20,000.

A professional educator for 42 years, Breidenstine was dean of academic affairs at Millersville State College for 10 years before he came to Harrisburg. Earlier, he had been dean at Franklin and Marshall College and Hershey Junior College.

Shafer said a screening committee, headed by Lt. Gov. Raymond Broderick, has not yet completed interviewing candidates for a permanent replacement for Rackley.

"They expect to complete their work in the very near future and have a report for me," he said. "I have not talked to them on any specifics, and I have not discussed any names with them."

He added that he would prefer a Pennsylvanian for the post.

Questioned about a compromise the administration reportedly has reached with Republican legislative leaders on a $267 million tax package, Shafer would say only that agreement was general.

"I don't want to go into specifics," he said. "All I can tell you is that there is general concensus."

The paper said Thursday Svetlana had written her brother-in-law asking for details of hospital requirements of Kalakankar, a small village about 300 miles southeast of Delhi.

According to the paper the hospital will serve as a memorial to her late husband, Nrijesh Singh, who died in Moscow last October.

Svetlana came to India in December to immerse his ashes in the sacred Ganges River and meet his family in Kalakankar.

Svetlana's donation for the hospital is expected to come from the profits from the book she is writing about her father, Joseph Stalin.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?
QUESTION: What was the organization of the early church?
ANSWER: The New Testament teaches that Christ was the only head of the church. "And he is the head of the body, the church" (Col. 1:18). The apostles were the Lord's ambassadors and as such could speak with authority to the different congregations (2 Cor. 5:20).
Each local congregation, when it was fully developed, had its own elders (Acts 14:23). The elders were also known as bishops, pastors, and shepherds (Acts 20:28; 1 Peter 5: 1,4).
To assist the elders as they governed each local congregation, we read of deacons. Philippians 1:1 shows that each church had its own bishops and deacons.
As one studies the pages of the New Testament, he sees that the early church was completely free of denominational machinery and ecclesiastical systems. New Testament government is the type of government we need to be imitating in Christianity today.

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — Svetlana Stalin plans to finance a new women's hospital in her late Indian husband's hometown, says the Hindustan Times.

The paper said Thursday Svetlana had written her brother-in-law asking for details of hospital requirements of Kalakankar, a small village about 300 miles southeast of Delhi.

According to the paper the hospital will serve as a memorial to her late husband, Nrijesh Singh, who died in Moscow last October.

Svetlana came to India in December to immerse his ashes in the sacred Ganges River and meet his family in Kalakankar.

Svetlana's donation for the hospital is expected to come from the profits from the book she is writing about her father, Joseph Stalin.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: What was the organization of the early church?
ANSWER: The New Testament teaches that Christ was the only head of the church. "And he is the head of the body, the church" (Col. 1:18). The apostles were the Lord's ambassadors and as such could speak with authority to the different congregations (2 Cor. 5:20).

Each local congregation, when it was fully developed, had its own elders (Acts 14:23). The elders were also known as bishops, pastors, and shepherds (Acts 20:28; 1 Peter 5: 1,4).

To assist the elders as they governed each local congregation, we read of deacons. Philippians 1:1 shows that each church had its own bishops and deacons.

As one studies the pages of the New Testament, he sees that the early church was completely free of denominational machinery and ecclesiastical systems. New Testament government is the type of government we need to be imitating in Christianity today.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Size and cost are all you need to know about a diamond.

FACT:
Much more than size or carat weight, and price, are important in choosing a diamond. Buying diamonds as bargains by weight alone can be a hard lesson. Your reputable jeweler is your best safeguard against "bargain diamonds", and he will be the first to tell you that quality, color and "make" in determine value as much as size.

CONCLUSION:
For a diamond of the finest quality, color and "make" in the size you can afford, see our beautiful selection . . . where you can choose with confidence.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Size and cost are all you need to know about a diamond.
FACT:
Much more than size or carat weight, and price, are important in choosing a diamond. Buying diamonds as bargains by weight alone can be a hard lesson. Your reputable jeweler is your best safeguard against "bargain diamonds", and he will be the first to tell you that quality, color and "make" in determine value as much as size.
CONCLUSION:
For a diamond of the finest quality, color and "make" in the size you can afford, see our beautiful selection . . . where you can choose with confidence.

High Court's Ruling Is Due On Apportion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court is expected to announce next week a long-awaited decision that could remove—or intensify—a legal cloud hanging since 1964 over the Ohio Legislature.

Spokesmen for the court confirmed Thursday that the tribunal has completed study of a suit by Sen. Frank W. King D-11 Toledo challenging the present legislative apportionment plan. They said the decision may be announced Wednesday.

Speculation over the pending ruling came as the legislature ended its 23rd work week and adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday. Before taking recess, the lawmakers received word from the administration they will get in a few days the administration's proposals for increasing taxes to raise an additional $220 million for education.

The administration announcement by Finance Director Richard Krabach also said proposals will be made to permit counties to levy additional taxes to meet their own particular needs. Krabach said the proposals would "rangé from public utilities to auto tags."

It was disclosed earlier that a utility tax would be recommended to help counties raise their half share of a state-county program to raise Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments from the present 78 per cent of recommended standards to 100 per cent.

In a two hour session Thursday, the House passed and sent back to the Senate a bill authorizing cities and counties to issue self-retiring revenue bonds for industrial development. The House removed from the Senate-passed measure a provision which would have permitted members of bond issuing agencies to have interests in projects for which bonds were issued, provided they disclosed holdings before voting on issues.

The House also passed a bill providing for bond-issuing financing of regional airport facilities. Sponsors said the proposal would enable Lorain County to use state and federal funds before June 30 if enacted prior to that date.

Rep. John Harvey Wels R-25 Fairfield won passage of a bill giving county welfare workers the same pay increases recently voted state employes and establishing the same pay classifications.

Rep. George Voinovich R-53 Cleveland said he would introduce Monday a resolution calling for a $365 million bond issue to pay for a "dynamic" program to combat water pollution over the next six years.

The Supreme Court has had under advisement several months the apportionment suit which is the only remaining litigation in a series of actions since 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision that year knocked out a plan under which Ohio legislatures had been elected since 1903.

Ohio voters turned down in May 1965 a few plan proposed by the 1965 legislature, and subsequently the State Apportionment Board won federal court approval for use of a temporary plan under which the present legislature was elected.

Later, King, citing a provision in the Ohio Constitution that the board may act only every 10 years following a federal census, filed suit. He won in the 10th District Court and the attorney general appealed to the supreme Court.

In the meantime, the present legislature placed on the May 1967 ballot the temporary plan drawn up by the apportionment board. Voters rejected it.

Local Board Of Health To Host Area Meeting

The East Liverpool Board of Health will play host to a district meeting of area sanitarians in October, Jack Bonner, health commissioner, announced during the meeting Thursday night in City Hall.

Bonner and Sanitarian Ben Weber will serve as hosts.

Bonner indicated between 25 and 30 sanitarians and health commissioners will attend. "School sanitation" will be one of the discussion topics, with a tour of the new schools now being constructed on the agenda. Several other classes will be held, according to Bonner. The meeting will begin in the morning and continue through the day, with a social event being planned for the evening.

Mrs. Louella Bevan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 64 births (32 males and 32 female) and 39 deaths (20 adult male and 17 females and 2 children) in the city between May 18 and June 15.

Health Nurse Selma Ladzinske reported 150 cases and consultations handled by her office.

Weber made 121 investigations, including 10 milk samples. All were reported satisfactory by the testing laboratory in Steubenville. Bonner investigated 116 complaints and said a restaurant employee training school was held last month with 29 in attendance. Films on food handling and other phases of restaurant operation were screened. A film on "Rabies Control" was shown to members of City Council, it was reported.

The next meeting will be held July 20.

Food Poisoning Warning Given Area Picnickers

Jack Bonner, city health commissioner, reminds that hot weather and picnics sometimes can lead to food poisoning.

The most important thing to remember about picnic food is to keep it cold as long as possible before serving, he said.

Salads, egg dishes, chopped meats and cream - filled pastries are usually the prime offenders.

"If you don't feel well, be extra careful in handling food, as many types of illnesses can be passed along through food," he pointed out.

At the picnic area, Bonner advises all foods be covered until serving time and that all perishable foods, as beverages, be kept in an ice chest or cooler.

"It's not a good idea to submerge containers in stream water, which could be polluted," he added.

There are more than two million carbon compounds, about 1½ times the number formed by all the other elements combined.

High Court's Ruling Is Due On Apportion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court is expected to announce next week a long-awaited decision that could remove—or intensify—a legal cloud hanging since 1964 over the Ohio Legislature.

Spokesmen for the court confirmed Thursday that the tribunal has completed study of a suit by Sen. Frank W. King D-11 Toledo challenging the present legislative apportionment plan. They said the decision may be announced Wednesday.

Speculation over the pending ruling came as the legislature ended its 23rd work week and adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday. Before taking recess, the lawmakers received word from the administration they will get in a few days the administration's proposals for increasing taxes to raise an additional $220 million for education.

The administration announcement by Finance Director Richard Krabach also said proposals will be made to permit counties to levy additional taxes to meet their own particular needs. Krabach said the proposals would "range from public utilities to auto tags."

It was disclosed earlier that a utility tax would be recommended to help counties raise their half share of a state-county program to raise Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments from the present 78 per cent of recommended standards to 100 per cent.

In a two hour session Thursday, the House passed and sent back to the Senate a bill authorizing cities and counties to issue self-retiring revenue bonds for industrial development. The House removed from the Senate-passed measure a provision which would have permitted members of bond issuing agencies to have interests in projects for which bonds were issued, provided they disclosed holdings before voting on issues.

The House also passed a bill providing for bond-issuing financing of regional airport facilities. Sponsors said the proposal would enable Lorain County to use state and federal funds before June 30 if enacted prior to that date.

Rep. John Harvey Wels R-25 Fairfield won passage of a bill giving county welfare workers the same pay increases recently voted state employes and establishing the same pay classifications.

Rep. George Voinovich R-53 Cleveland said he would introduce Monday a resolution calling for a $365 million bond issue to pay for a "dynamic" program to combat water pollution over the next six years.

The Supreme Court has had under advisement several months the apportionment suit which is the only remaining litigation in a series of actions since 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision that year knocked out a plan under which Ohio legislatures had been elected since 1903.

Ohio voters turned down in May 1965 a few plan proposed by the 1965 legislature, and subsequently the State Apportionment Board won federal court approval for use of a temporary plan under which the present legislature was elected.

Later, King, citing a provision in the Ohio Constitution that the board may act only every 10 years following a federal census, filed suit. He won in the 10th District Court and the attorney general appealed to the supreme Court.

In the meantime, the present legislature placed on the May 1967 ballot the temporary plan drawn up by the apportionment board. Voters rejected it.

Sean Allison, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Allison of 310 Freeman Ave., was severely bitten by an animal owned by George Bradley of Maple Hill in Salineville.

Hospital officials said 20 stitches were required to close a wound in the child's face and 10 sutures were taken in the back of his head.

Salineville Police Chief Gordon Sweeney ordered the dog confined for 10 days while tests are made to determine if it is rabid.

The Columbiana County sheriff's office received the report at 9:56 last night and relayed the call to County Dog Warden Russell Reichenbaugh.

Local Board Of Health To Host Area Meeting

The East Liverpool Board of Health will play host to a district meeting of area sanitarians in October, Jack Bonner, health commissioner, announced during the meeting Thursday night in City Hall.

Bonner and Sanitarian Ben Weber will serve as hosts.

Bonner indicated between 25 and 30 sanitarians and health commissioners will attend. "School sanitation" will be one of the discussion topics, with a tour of the new schools now being constructed on the agenda. Several other classes will be held, according to Bonner. The meeting will begin in the morning and continue through the day, with a social event being planned for the evening.

Mrs. Louella Bevan, registrar of vital statistics, reported 64 births (32 males and 32 female) and 39 deaths (20 adult male and 17 females and 2 children) in the city between May 18 and June 15.

Health Nurse Selma Ladzinske reported 150 cases and consultations handled by her office.

Weber made 121 investigations, including 10 milk samples. All were reported satisfactory by the testing laboratory in Steubenville. Bonner investigated 116 complaints and said a restaurant employee training school was held last month with 29 in attendance. Films on food handling and other phases of restaurant operation were screened. A film on "Rabies Control" was shown to members of City Council, it was reported.

Miss Ladzinske reported both hospital maternity wards were approved by the state health department following inspection last month.

Salaries for employes last month were $2,009.70. Other bills amounted to $43.06 for a total of $2,052.76.

C. Frank Dales, vice chairman, presided in the absence of Dr. J. K. Rugh, president. Other board members in attendance were Donald Mackey and Paul Zehnder.

The next meeting will be held July 20.

Food Poisoning Warning Given Area Picnickers

Jack Bonner, city health commissioner, reminds that hot weather and picnics sometimes can lead to food poisoning.

The most important thing to remember about picnic food is to keep it cold as long as possible before serving, he said.

Salads, egg dishes, chopped meats and cream - filled pastries are usually the prime offenders.

"If you don't feel well, be extra careful in handling food, as many types of illnesses can be passed along through food," he pointed out.

At the picnic area, Bonner advises all foods be covered until serving time and that all perishable foods, as beverages, be kept in an ice chest or cooler.

"It's not a good idea to submerge containers in stream water, which could be polluted," he added.

There are more than two million carbon compounds, about 1½ times the number formed by all the other elements combined.

Mideast

when his office opened at 9 a.m. EDT, he would convene the first meeting for 9 or 9:30 a.m. Saturday, trying not to make it too early in the morning for the delegates.

When an aide closed the office for the night at 11 p.m., 61 countries, including France, had concurred in the Soviet bid for the emergency session. Only one, the United States, disapproved, while Britain and Iceland said they would concur if the majority did.

At the opening meeting, the assembly is expected to re-elect Afghan Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak as president and deal with other preliminaries.

The expectation is that Kosygin will open the debate Monday with a demand for the immediate withdrawal of Israeli forces from the areas of Egypt, Jordan and Syria they occupied in the war last week.

Kosygin, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and 48 aides left Moscow by special plane today for New York. They were tot stop in Paris for the Soviet premier to confer on the Middle East crisis with President Charles de Gaulle, then fly on to New York.

There was no indication yet whether De Gaulle would attend the assembly meeting. He and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson are scheduled to meet in Paris Monday

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, informing Thant of the U.S. refusal to concur in the Soviet request for the assembly session, said his government felt the Security Council rather than the assembly should continue to carry the load of peace-seeking in the Middle East.

Goldberg added that should the assembly meet, the United States hopes it will help "deal effectively with the underlying causes of tension and conflict in the Middle East" and not produce "invective and inflammatory statements."

The Soviet Union requested the assembly session after the Security Council on Wednesday refused to approve a Soviet resolution demanding the Israeli troop withdrawal and the Soviet Union said it would veto U.S. and Canadian resolutions seeking a peaceful solution.

In the Middle East, estimates of the number of refugees from the six-day war rose to close to 200,000. An International Red Cross official in Beirut said about 40,000 Syrians had fled their homes ahead of the advancing Israeli army and another 4,000 to 5,000 Syrians had left border villages and entered southern Lebanon. There were unconfirmed reports that Syrian army detachments had been moved to the border area to prevent more flights by Syrians.

About 150,000 Arabs have been reported refugees in western Jordan, where food was said to be in desperate demand.

Syria offered Thursday to ship food to Jordan to replace crops lost in the fighting or taken by the Israelis in Jordanian territory west of the Jordan River.

Some Arab refugees have charged that the Israelis forced them to leave their homes in territory taken over by Israel west of the Jordan River, but the commander of the Israeli forces in the area denied it.

In Israel, the outlook was for an increase in military expenditures, rather than a drop, as a result of the victory over the Arabs.

The Israeli armed forces conquered hundreds of square miles of Arab territory, and officials believe a larger army will be needed to occupy it.

In another development, Libya asked Britain to close its military bases on Libyan soil and withdraw ts troops, and Cairo Radio said the United States had been asked to abandon Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya.

The Cairo report said Libyan Premier Husain Maziq had asked the United States to leave "at the earliest possible moment." Wheelus is the only American air base in Africa and is used primarily for rocketry, gunnery and bombing practice by armen stationed in Europe and as a way station of the Military Air Transport Service.

Soviet Chief Heads For 1st Trip To U.N.

Kosygin headed a 50-member delegation that included Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. They flew first to Paris for talks with President Charles de Gaulle.

The premier's trip also sets the stage for possible talks with President Johnson. It would be the first U.S.-Soviet summit meeting since President John F. Kennedy and Khrushchev conferred in Vienna in 1961.

Kosygin was due in Paris about 10 a.m. EDT and was to see De Gaulle two hours later. Soviet sources in the French capital said the premier would continue on tonight to New York.

Restoration Eyed For Old Furnace At McKinley Site

LISBON — Possible restoration of the Rebecca Iron Furnace at Camp McKinley was aired at a meeting of the Columbiana County Historical Society Wednesday night at the Village Hall.

John C. Simonds of Leetonia, president, said the officials of the Kaiser Refractories Division of Columbiana have indicated interest in the project. He said support of the restoration is needed by other industries.

Sam Wang of Columbiana spoke and displayed pictures of the battle of Little Big Horn where Gen. Custer and his troops were massacred by Indians.

The group will meet July 12 at the Village Hall for a program by Harry Eberhart of Columbiana.

Crucible

Albert V. Jenner, representing Crucible, said the proposed meeting was for the sole purpose of voting on the company's proposal to increase the number of outstanding shares and set up a new class of preference stock. He said a two-thirds vote is necessary.

The proposed meeting would be held at a time and place to be decided by Crucible's directors. Shareholders would be asked to amend the corporate charter to increase the authorized common stock to eight million shares and approve issuance of 600,000 shares of the new preferred at $100 par value.

Crucible on May 31 had 4,263,468 shares of common outstanding.

John C. Lobb, Crucible president, said in an affidavit accompanying the petition that Crucible must make major capital investments in heavy machine tools and equipment and additional capital funds are needed.

He said also that the company has received attractive offers regarding possible acquisitions but has been prevented from acting on them because of the current litigation.

Mideast

when his office opened at 9 a.m. EDT, he would convene the first meeting for 9 or 9:30 a.m. Saturday, trying not to make it too early in the morning for the delegates.

When an aide closed the office for the night at 11 p.m., 61 countries, including France, had concurred in the Soviet bid for the emergency session. Only one, the United States, disapproved, while Britain and Iceland said they would concur if the majority did.

At the opening meeting, the assembly is expected to re-elect Afghan Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak as president and deal with other preliminaries.

The expectation is that Kosygin will open the debate Monday with a demand for the immediate withdrawal of Israeli forces from the areas of Egypt, Jordan and Syria they occupied in the war last week.

Kosygin, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and 48 aides left Moscow by special plane today for New York. They were tot stop in Paris for the Soviet premier to confer on the Middle East crisis with President Charles de Gaulle, then fly on to New York.

There was no indication yet whether De Gaulle would attend the assembly meeting. He and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson are scheduled to meet in Paris Monday

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, informing Thant of the U.S. refusal to concur in the Soviet request for the assembly session, said his government felt the Security Council rather than the assembly should continue to carry the load of peace-seeking in the Middle East.

Goldberg added that should the assembly meet, the United States hopes it will help "deal effectively with the underlying causes of tension and conflict in the Middle East" and not produce "invective and inflammatory statements."

The Soviet Union requested the assembly session after the Security Council on Wednesday refused to approve a Soviet resolution demanding the Israeli troop withdrawal and the Soviet Union said it would veto U.S. and Canadian resolutions seeking a peaceful solution.

In the Middle East, estimates of the number of refugees from the six-day war rose to close to 200,000. An International Red Cross official in Beirut said about 40,000 Syrians had fled their homes ahead of the advancing Israeli army and another 4,000 to 5,000 Syrians had left border villages and entered southern Lebanon. There were unconfirmed reports that Syrian army detachments had been moved to the border area to prevent more flights by Syrians.

About 150,000 Arabs have been reported refugees in western Jordan, where food was said to be in desperate demand.

Syria offered Thursday to ship food to Jordan to replace crops lost in the fighting or taken by the Israelis in Jordanian territory west of the Jordan River.

Some Arab refugees have charged that the Israelis forced them to leave their homes in territory taken over by Israel west of the Jordan River, but the commander of the Israeli forces in the area denied it.

In Israel, the outlook was for an increase in military expenditures, rather than a drop, as a result of the victory over the Arabs.

The Israeli armed forces conquered hundreds of square miles of Arab territory, and officials believe a larger army will be needed to occupy it.

In another development, Libya asked Britain to close its military bases on Libyan soil and withdraw ts troops, and Cairo Radio said the United States had been asked to abandon Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya.

The Cairo report said Libyan Premier Husain Maziq had asked the United States to leave "at the earliest possible moment." Wheelus is the only American air base in Africa and is used primarily for rocketry, gunnery and bombing practice by armen stationed in Europe and as a way station of the Military Air Transport Service.

Soviet Chief Heads For 1st Trip To U.N.

The premier's trip also sets the stage for possible talks with President Johnson. It would be the first U.S.-Soviet summit meeting since President John F. Kennedy and Khrushchev conferred in Vienna in 1961.

Kosygin was due in Paris about 10 a.m. EDT and was to see De Gaulle two hours later. Soviet sources in the French capital said the premier would continue on tonight to New York.

Restoration Eyed For Old Furnace At McKinley Site

LISBON — Possible restoration of the Rebecca Iron Furnace at Camp McKinley was aired at a meeting of the Columbiana County Historical Society Wednesday night at the Village Hall.

John C. Simonds of Leetonia, president, said the officials of the Kaiser Refractories Division of Columbiana have indicated interest in the project. He said support of the restoration is needed by other industries.

Sam Wang of Columbiana spoke and displayed pictures of the battle of Little Big Horn where Gen. Custer and his troops were massacred by Indians.

The group will meet July 12 at the Village Hall for a program by Harry Eberhart of Columbiana.

trol from the Crucible management by lining up proxy votes.

Albert V. Jenner, representing Crucible, said the proposed meeting was for the sole purpose of voting on the company's proposal to increase the number of outstanding shares and set up a new class of preference stock. He said a two-thirds vote is necessary.

The proposed meeting would be held at a time and place to be decided by Crucible's directors. Shareholders would be asked to amend the corporate charter to increase the authorized common stock to eight million shares and approve issuance of 600,000 shares of the new preferred at $100 par value.

Crucible on May 31 had 4,263,468 shares of common outstanding.

John C. Lobb, Crucible president, said in an affidavit accompanying the petition that Crucible must make major capital investments in heavy machine tools and equipment and additional capital funds are needed.

He said also that the company has received attractive offers regarding possible acquisitions but has been prevented from acting on them because of the current litigation.

Long To Make Closing Argument

Dodd Admits He Thanked LBJ On 'Swelling Drive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd acknowledges thanking Lyndon B. Johnson for swelling "my campaign drive" with money the Senate ethics committee says Dodd put to his personal use.

But the white-haired Connecticut Democrat maintained once again Thursday—in the third day of sometimes heated debate on a committee resolution to censure him for financial misconduct—that "testimonial affairs where I live are not considered campaign affairs."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.—Dodd's self-appointed defender—planned to make today what he told the Senate would be the closing argument in defense of his colleague.

But Long later told a reporter he wasn't sure if his statement would "close the debate or reopen it." He hinted once again he might present evidence the ethics panel "deliberately kept out of the record" because it regarded it as irrelevant.

Long said the evidence related to the four former Dodd employes who rifled the senator's files of 4,000 documents and turned them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. Their columns touched off the 14-month ethics committee probe of Dodd that resulted in the censure resolution.

In Thursday's debate, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., asked Dodd whether he wrote an Aug. 5, 1963, letter to Johnson, then vice president, thanking him for an offer "to come to Connecticut to assist me in my forthcoming campaign."

"Sure I wrote the letter," Dodd said.

The Dodd letter to Johnson continued: "I wish I could convey to you how enthusiastic everyone is about your visit and how much it will assist me in getting my campaign drive under way."

The ethics committee reported proceeds of "Dodd Day" events attended by Johnson amounted to at least $46,745 — part of $116,083 in political funds the committee asserts Dodd used for his personal benefit.

The ethics committee had a copy of the letter but never placed it in evidence because of its source. It treated such documents taken from Dodd's files without authorization as tainted.

After Dodd acknowledged writing the letter, Percy said, "It has been confirmed then."

Dodd did not omment on the quotations read by Percy from the letter.

But the two-term Connecticut senator rose to his feet shouting when Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the ethics panel said he believed those who bought tickets to Dodd's testimonials wanted the money used for "the strengthening of the office that he's holding—and certainly that doesn't include repairs to a house or payments to a son, however fine the son."

"Not one penny of this money has enriched me," Dodd said loudly. "The senator says he thinks he knows what the people had in mind— well, I think I know, too."

Dodd previously has confirmed that $9,479,40 of the money was spent on repairs to his home in North Stonington, Conn., and that he transferred $4,900 to his son, Jeremy.

Earlier Stennis said the basis of the committee's charge was that money from the testimonials "was taken in under an express or implied representation to the people that these were political funds and thereafter wrongfully, in our view, converted over to personal use."

He said the committee knew that Johnson, who spoke at testimonials for Dodd in both 1961 and 1963, was "acting in absolute good faith and without knowledge of anything of this kind."

Stennis said this also was true of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, featured speaker at a 1965 testimonial dinner for Dodd. The gross receipts from this affair were listed by the committee as $79,223.

Stennis said he didn't see how any impartial person could find his way through "this morass of money" and "come out with the conclusion that a grievous wrong has not been done to the Senate."

Dodd steadfastly maintained that the people who bought tickets to the testimonials had not been misled into thinking they were contributing to his campaign. He said he is $50,000 or more out of pocket despite the testimonials because of campaign expenses and the extra costs of office.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said the question the Senate must resolve was "what was in the mind of the contributors" to the testimonials—whether they intended the money for political purposes or for Dodd to use as he saw fit.

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the proposed censure resolution states Dodd engaged in a course of conduct to exercise the power and influence of his office "to obtain, and use for his personal benefit, funds from the public."

"The key is the use of the office for the solicitation of funds," Gore said.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., an ethics committee member, said Gore's comments "got to the crux of the situation."

Long said he was not sure the Senate could reach a vote by the end of the day on the committee's resolution to censure Dodd on two grounds — the diversion of political funds to his own use and double-billing of the Senate and private organizations for travel expenses on seven trips.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland D-Fla., served notice he would seek a separate vote on each of the two counts.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said if action is not completed by nightfall, the Senate will meet Saturday.

Long said he may not offer his substitute resolution to drop the censure of Dodd and instead require the ethics committee to draft a code of conduct for the future guidance of senators.

"I'm not sure it is the best thing to do," he said.

Quiet Enforced In Cincinnati

Rash Of Fires Break Out In Dayton Racial Strife

By The Associated Press

A rash of fires, apparently caused by gasoline bombs, and other incidents of racial violence occurred in Dayton, Ohio, Thursday night while relative quiet was enforced in Cincinnati by police and an expanded force of National Guardsmen.

About 15 fires were reported in Dayton, including a spectacular blaze that destroyed five adjoining buildings housing businesses and residences.

Police Maj. R.M. Igleburger said there was also a lot of rock-throwing. This led to the cancellation of all bus service to Dayton's West Side because of "potential danger to the public."

Some window-smashing and looting was reported by police who said there was no mass forming of rioters.

While the racial trouble continued in the Ohio cities, Tampa, Fla.—the scene of three nights of violence— marked a day of peace by disbanding a 500-man National Guard force.

Cincinnati went through the fourth straight night of racial violence despite the increase in the National Guard force from 800 to more than 1,000.

Armed with machine guns and rifles with bayonets, the guardsmen accompanied police into the predominantly Negro areas that have been trouble spots.

H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and a black power advocate, issued what he termed a "declaration of war" in the Walnut Hills area of Cincinnati. He also demanded that Negroes jailed in connection with the rioting be freed.

More than 310 have been arrested this week and 12 rioters were convicted Thursday of violating the State Riot Act, fined $500 each and sentenced to a year in the workhouse.

Tension mounted as the result of the convictions and some spectators shouted, "Shoot the judge!"

Although none of the new prisoners had been admitted to the city's ancient workhouse, 400 inmates set fire to their mattresses, smashed windows and threw debris out the windows.

About 130 policemen and National Guardsmen were rushed to the building and tear gas was used to restore order.

Tampa officials, in addition to withdrawing National Guardsmen, also pulled the 150 members of the City Youth Patrol from the streets.

Authorities were quick to praise the Negro youngsters who patrolled the streets of Negro slums Wednesday night, telling potential troublemakers to stay cool.

Four of the Youth Patrol's leaders charged long-term neglect of police and city fathers.

In developments elsewhere, Dr. Martin Luther King said the baking industry in Cleveland, Ohio, would be the initial target of a move "to get new and better jobs and increase the income and buying power for Negroes." If the bread companies don't cooperate, he said, "we will call on the whole community to withdraw economic support."

The campaign has been dubbed "Operation Breadbasket," to be undertaken by a task force formed by nine national civil rights organizations.

Two Prattville, Ala., Negroes filed suit in federal court at Montgomery seeking an injunction against Prattville Police Chief O.C. Thompson, Autauga County Sheriff Phillip Woods and three police officers.

They asked $100,000 damages to injuries suffered by one of the Negroes in an alleged beating.

In Washington, the House Rules Committee announced that hearings will start June 27 on bills making it a federal offense to cross state lines to incite riots.

Hearing Delayed In Robbery Case

The hearing for two Pennsylvania men charged with the armed robbery of a Chester service station operator, has been continued until next Wednesday by Squire John D. Herron.

Anthony F. Guta, 20, of McDonald, Pa., and John P. Stuckwish, 23, of Oakdale, Pa., in Allegheny County, were lodged in the Hancock County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each. The two were captured early Tuesday morning by East Liverpool police after allegedly robbing George Cassidy of Wellsville, the operator of the service station.

Club At Summitville Holds Picnic Meeting

SUMMITVILLE — Mrs. Hugh Marshall, incoming president, announced she will appoint committees shortly when the Summitville Women's Civic Club held a picnic meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dominic Sabatino.

Mrs. Marshall was introduced by Mrs. Carl Rogers, whose term as president is expiring. A coverdish dinner was served to 14, with Mrs. Rogers with Mrs. Ernest Phillips assisting the hostess.

Deadline Set For Reports Of Aspirants

By 4 this afternoon, every candidate who sought party nomination for public office in the May 2 primaries, as well as committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue, must file a detailed, notarized report of campaign receipts and expenditures with the County Election Board's office.

Most of the candidates and committees already have complied, Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, pointed out this morning. The reports have been trickling into the board's office since shortly after the primaries. The tempo increased a few days ago as the deadline neared.

Candidates must file the reports whether or not they were successful. The statements are required under the "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign expenditures. Receipts must be enclosed for any expenditure over $25.

Any candidate who fails to file before the deadline automatically will be barred by Ohio law from seeking a public office again for the next five years.

In addition, law prevents the board from issuing a certificate of nomination to any successful candidate who does not file the report. Without the certificate, the nominee cannot advance to the general election in November.

Nearly a dozen of the reports were filed overnight, including two from East Liverpool and four from Wellsville.

Vincent Laneve, unsuccessful Republican candidate for Third Ward councilman, reported expenses of $5. Arnold C. Talbott, defeated Democratic candidate for the same post, said he spent nothing.

Mayor W. H. Daugherty of Wellsville reported he spent $156.75 in a successful bid for renomination on the Republican ticket. Fred A. Baldasarre, chairman of the Daughterty for Mayor Committee, listed expenses of $229.52.

James Lindsay, chairman of the Better Wellsville Committee, said it spent $46.43 toward nomination of certain Democrats. Willard Havelock, who headed a Republican committee at Wellsville, listed expenses of $46.43.

Miss Resnick said all successful candidates who had not filed the expense statements were given another reminder Thursday by telephone.

Long To Make Closing Argument

Dodd Admits He Thanked LBJ On 'Swelling Drive'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd acknowledges thanking Lyndon B. Johnson for swelling "my campaign drive" with money the Senate ethics committee says Dodd put to his personal use.

But the white-haired Connecticut Democrat maintained once again Thursday—in the third day of sometimes heated debate on a committee resolution to censure him for financial misconduct—that "testimonial affairs where I live are not considered campaign affairs."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.—Dodd's self-appointed defender—planned to make today what he told the Senate would be the closing argument in defense of his colleague.

But Long later told a reporter he wasn't sure if his statement would "close the debate or reopen it." He hinted once again he might present evidence the ethics panel "deliberately kept out of the record" because it regarded it as irrelevant.

Long said the evidence related to the four former Dodd employes who rifled the senator's files of 4,000 documents and turned them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. Their columns touched off the 14-month ethics committee probe of Dodd that resulted in the censure resolution.

In Thursday's debate, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., asked Dodd whether he wrote an Aug. 5, 1963, letter to Johnson, then vice president, thanking him for an offer "to come to Connecticut to assist me in my forthcoming campaign."

"Sure I wrote the letter," Dodd said.

The Dodd letter to Johnson continued: "I wish I could convey to you how enthusiastic everyone is about your visit and how much it will assist me in getting my campaign drive under way."

The ethics committee reported proceeds of "Dodd Day" events attended by Johnson amounted to at least $46,745 — part of $116,083 in political funds the committee asserts Dodd used for his personal benefit.

The ethics committee had a copy of the letter but never placed it in evidence because of its source. It treated such documents taken from Dodd's files without authorization as tainted.

After Dodd acknowledged writing the letter, Percy said, "It has been confirmed then."

Dodd did not omment on the quotations read by Percy from the letter.

But the two-term Connecticut senator rose to his feet shouting when Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the ethics panel said he believed those who bought tickets to Dodd's testimonials wanted the money used for "the strengthening of the office that he's holding—and certainly that doesn't include repairs to a house or payments to a son, however fine the son."

"Not one penny of this money has enriched me," Dodd said loudly. "The senator says he thinks he knows what the people had in mind— well, I think I know, too."

Dodd previously has confirmed that $9,479.40 of the money was spent on repairs to his home in North Stonington, Conn., and that he transferred $4,900 to his son, Jeremy.

Earlier Stennis said the basis of the committee's charge was that money from the testimonials "was taken in under an express or implied representation to the people that these were political funds and thereafter wrongfully, in our view, converted over to personal use."

He said the committee knew that Johnson, who spoke at testimonials for Dodd in both 1961 and 1963, was "acting in absolute good faith and without knowledge of anything of this kind."

Stennis said this also was true of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, featured speaker at a 1965 testimonial dinner for Dodd. The gross receipts from this affair were listed by the committee as $79,223.

Stennis said he didn't see how any impartial person could find his way through "this morass of money" and "come out with the conclusion that a grievous wrong has not been done to the Senate."

Dodd steadfastly maintained that the people who bought tickets to the testimonials had not been misled into thinking they were contributing to his campaign. He said he is $50,000 or more out of pocket despite the testimonials because of campaign expenses and the extra costs of office.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said the question the Senate must resolve was "what was in the mind of the contributors" to the testimonials—whether they intended the money for political purposes or for Dodd to use as he saw fit.

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the proposed censure resolution states Dodd engaged in a course of conduct to exercise the power and influence of his office "to obtain, and use for his personal benefit, funds from the public."

"The key is the use of the office for the solicitation of funds," Gore said.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., an ethics committee member, said Gore's comments "got to the crux of the situation."

Long said he was not sure the Senate could reach a vote by the end of the day on the committee's resolution to censure Dodd on two grounds — the diversion of political funds to his own use and double-billing of the Senate and private organizations for travel expenses on seven trips.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland D-Fla., served notice he would seek a separate vote on each of the two counts.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said if action is not completed by nightfall, the Senate will meet Saturday.

Long said he may not offer his substitute resolution to drop the censure of Dodd and instead require the ethics committee to draft a code of conduct for the future guidance of senators.

"I'm not sure it is the best thing to do," he said.

Westfield Man Fined In Crashing Stop Sign

Harold Ray Powell, 41, of Westfield was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court after pleading guilty before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he crashed a stop sign at the junction of the Y. & O. Rd. and Route 30 at Substation.

Powell was cited June 7 at 6 a. m. by the State Highway Patrol.

Meanwhile, Fred Cheuvront of 913 Dresden Ave. was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of costs, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto with illegal mufflers. He was cited Tuesday at 10:50 p.m. on Broadway, police said.

Newell Driver Fined After Arrest In Park

Paul Rayburn, 18, of Newell was fined $20 and costs Thursday by Squire John D. Herron on a charge of hazardous driving.

He was arrested Wednesday in Tomlinson Run State Park by Herman Freeman, assistant park superintendent.

Napoleon T. Holbrook, park superintendent, announced in May park personnel would crack down on motorists speeding through the park.

Quiet Enforced In Cincinnati

Rash Of Fires Break Out In Dayton Racial Strife

By The Associated Press

A rash of fires, apparently caused by gasoline bombs, and other incidents of racial violence occurred in Dayton, Ohio, Thursday night while relative quiet was enforced in Cincinnati by police and an expanded force of National Guardsmen.

About 15 fires were reported in Dayton, including a spectacular blaze that destroyed five adjoining buildings housing businesses and residences.

Police Maj. R.M. Igleburger said there was also a lot of rock-throwing. This led to the cancellation of all bus service to Dayton's West Side because of "potential danger to the public."

Some window-smashing and looting was reported by police who said there was no mass forming of rioters.

While the racial trouble continued in the Ohio cities, Tampa, Fla.—the scene of three nights of violence— marked a day of peace by disbanding a 500-man National Guard force.

Cincinnati went through the fourth straight night of racial violence despite the increase in the National Guard force from 800 to more than 1,000.

Armed with machine guns and rifles with bayonets, the guardsmen accompanied police into the predominantly Negro areas that have been trouble spots.

H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and a black power advocate, issued what he termed a "declaration of war" in the Walnut Hills area of Cincinnati. He also demanded that Negroes jailed in connection with the rioting be freed.

More than 310 have been arrested this week and 12 rioters were convicted Thursday of violating the State Riot Act, fined $500 each and sentenced to a year in the workhouse.

Tension mounted as the result of the convictions and some spectators shouted, "Shoot the judge!"

Although none of the new prisoners had been admitted to the city's ancient workhouse, 400 inmates set fire to their mattresses, smashed windows and threw debris out the windows.

About 130 policemen and National Guardsmen were rushed to the building and tear gas was used to restore order.

Tampa officials, in addition to withdrawing National Guardsmen, also pulled the 150 members of the City Youth Patrol from the streets.

Authorities were quick to praise the Negro youngsters who patrolled the streets of Negro slums Wednesday night, telling potential troublemakers to stay cool.

In developments elsewhere, Dr. Martin Luther King said the baking industry in Cleveland, Ohio, would be the initial target of a move "to get new and better jobs and increase the income and buying power for Negroes." If the bread companies don't cooperate, he said, "we will call on the whole community to withdraw economic support."

The campaign has been dubbed "Operation Breadbasket," to be undertaken by a task force formed by nine national civil rights organizations.

Two Prattville, Ala., Negroes filed suit in federal court at Montgomery seeking an injunction against Prattville Police Chief O.C. Thompson, Autauga County Sheriff Phillip Woods and three police officers.

They asked $100,000 damages to injuries suffered by one of the Negroes in an alleged beating.

In Washington, the House Rules Committee announced that hearings will start June 27 on bills making it a federal offense to cross state lines to incite riots.

Hearing Delayed In Robbery Case

The hearing for two Pennsylvania men charged with the armed robbery of a Chester service station operator, has been continued until next Wednesday by Squire John D. Herron.

Anthony F. Guta, 20, of McDonald, Pa., and John P. Stuckwish, 23, of Oakdale, Pa., in Allegheny County, were lodged in the Hanock County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each. The two were captured early Tuesday morning by East Liverpool police after allegedly robbing George Cassidy of Wellsville, the operator of the service station.

Club At Summitville Holds Picnic Meeting

SUMMITVILLE — Mrs. Hugh Marshall, incoming president, announced she will appoint committees shortly when the Summitville Women's Civic Club held a picnic meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dominic Sabatino.

Mrs. Marshall was introduced by Mrs. Carl Rogers, whose term as president is expiring. A coverdish dinner was served to 14, with Mrs. Rogers with Mrs. Ernest Phillips assisting the hostess.

Deadline Set For Reports Of Aspirants

By 4 this afternoon, every candidate who sought party nomination for public office in the May 2 primaries, as well as committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue, must file a detailed, notarized report of campaign receipts and expenditures with the County Election Board's office.

Most of the candidates and committees already have complied, Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, pointed out this morning. The reports have been trickling into the board's office since shortly after the primaries. The tempo increased a few days ago as the deadline neared.

Candidates must file the reports whether or not they were successful. The statements are required under the "corrupt practices act," which puts a ceiling on campaign expenditures. Receipts must be enclosed for any expenditure over $25.

Any candidate who fails to file before the deadline automatically will be barred by Ohio law from seeking a public office again for the next five years.

In addition, law prevents the board from issuing a certificate of nomination to any successful candidate who does not file the report. Without the certificate, the nominee cannot advance to the general election in November.

The mishap involved a 1963 two - door sedan driven by Roy E. Fletcher, 39, of 309 Ogden St. and a parked 1966 sedan owned by John W. Pryor Jr. of 730 Lincoln Ave.

Fletcher told Patrolman Dwight Garvey he was driving upgrade about 25 miles an hour when he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching auto. The mishap damaged the front bumper of Fletcher's auto and the rear bumper and left rear fender of Pryor's car, officers said.

2 Cars Damaged In Local Mishap

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday at 10:16 p.m. on Lincoln Ave. about 30 feet south of E. 9th St., police said.

The mishap involved a 1963 two - door sedan driven by Roy E. Fletcher, 39, of 309 Ogden St. and a parked 1966 sedan owned by John W. Pryor Jr. of 730 Lincoln Ave.

Fletcher told Patrolman Dwight Garvey he was driving upgrade about 25 miles an hour when he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching auto. The mishap damaged the front bumper of Fletcher's auto and the rear bumper and left rear fender of Pryor's car, officers said.

Climate of the French Riviera did not gain international fame until the 19th century, the National Geographic says. Wealthy Englishmen escaping from fog and Russian noblemen fleeing blizzards were the first to arrive. Today the Riviera welcomes all classes in all seasons.

Columbiana Man Held At Lisbon In Forgery

EAST PALESTINE — Ronald Cornett, 22, of Columbiana was bound over to the Columbiana County Grand Jury on a forgery charge by County Judge Barry Dickson Thursday.

Cornett was charged with writing a $41 check on Raymond Gori, operator of a North Lima firm for whom he worked, and cashing it at the Ferguson Market of Route 7.

He was placed under $1,000 bond and taken to the County Jail at Lisbon. A charge of stealing an auto was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Dan Comes To Peyton Place

Dan Duryea says he doesn't think of "Peyton Place," the ABC-TV series, as soap opera. This could be because Dan has just joined the cast, and "soap opera" is not a term most actors care to be associated with.

Hal Humphrey

"An actor lives for good scenes, and in the two weeks I've been with 'Peyton Place' I've had several. They do a darn good job," says Dan.

Viewers will see Dan beginning Aug. 22 in the part of Eddie Jacks, a charmer and a con man who deserted wife Ada and their daughter Rita 18 or 19 years ago.

HIS SUDDEN return naturally disturbs Ada (Evelyn Scott) and quite a few others in Peyton Place.

When Dan was offered the role of Eddie, his agent also was negotiating for him to play the Southern senator in the movie "Finian's Rainbow" with Fred Astaire, Petula Clark and Tommy Steele. But the "Peyton Place" producers said they had to know right away, so Dan took it for 20 out of the next 26 episodes and options.

"The money is good, the material is good and the people are great. My only reservation was whether I should go into something which already had started," says Dan, who evidently got over that hurdle in his first few days of shooting.

GETTING DAN in the cast puts "Peyton Place" up a notch in class. He's an actor who can make many bad scenes look better through the force of his talent.

Since coming to Hollywood in 1941 to play the role of Leo Hubbard in the movie version of "The Little Foxes," which he created on Broadway, Dan has appeared in 59 other movies and guested in close to 100 TV dramas of various sorts.

As he admits now, however, the guest-star business in TV has gone to pot — a fact which likely helped him to make up his mind about joining "Peyton Place."

The increasing number of prime-time TV hours given over to old movies, plus the disappearing anthology-type series, makes it tough for actors who haven't their own series. Salaries are down, too, for guest stars on TV because the supply of good ones now outstrips the demand.

DAN WAS ONE of the early series heroes on TV in a syndicated half-hour adventure thing called "Affairs of China Smith." He made 26 of them in 1952 and another set of 26 under the title of "New Adventures of China Smith" in 1955. These episodes ran in many cities until 1963.

"I also did two pilot films, one called 'J.P.' for justice of the peace, and another called 'Confidentially Yours,' which was about a magazine writer. Neither one sold, and you never find out why," Dan says.

One of Dan's career problems was trying to shake off his image as the villain. In 1951 he started in the movie "Chicago Calling," and because it was his first sympathetic role Dan agreed to take 30P of the profits plus a 16-mm. print of the film instead of a salary. He got the 16-mm. print. There were no profits.

AFTER THAT experience he decided there might be a market for a genuine heel-type who still comes off as a kind of hero. Dan couldn't convince any producer. Then later Richard Widmark did it, and it was too late for Dan.

"But I've done all right, and I never wanted to be totally consumed with the business of acting. A guy has got to live a little, and he can learn his trade better by living some, too," Dan adds.

Until last January, when Dan's wife Helen died suddenly, his was one of the longest and happiest of Hollywood's marriages — nearly 36 years. He met her when he was in the advertising business.

Peter, 27, is an actor-writer and has been in pictures with his father. Dick, 24, is the tour manager for the Beach Boys.

"I'm not rich, like a lot of people think, but I didn't want to work all that hard to get it, and I'm not sorry," says Dan.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: Here's something I stumbled on to keep from having to wash so many pots and pans, specially when camping out or picnicking.

And surprisingly enough, it can also be used at home.

Whenever I open a can of vegetables in clear liquid (such as peas or green beans) that must be heated before using, I line the inside of the pan with a heavy piece of aluminum foil before dumping them in.

I found it better yet to pour about one-fourth cup of water into that little ole pan first and barely shape the foil to the contour of the pan. Then put in the vegetables. They will heat away like mad and the pan will never get too hot or burn the food.

All I have to do is pour the vittles into a dish and serve after they are heated.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When ironing dresses or aprons that are decorated with rickrack, iron them on the wrong side, and the rickrack will not push up.

LOUISE N.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on my little brain storm.

Before driving to an anniversary party (wearing a white dress), I placed a double sheet of tissue paper across my tummy and fastened the seat belt over the paper.

JO ANN RAPP.

DEAR HELOISE: Does your little 5-year-old girl like to "wash" mommy's everyday dishes?

Go ahead and let her.

First, scrape off all food and put the dishes in the sink. Add the dish soap and fill the sink with hot water. Then wait awhile.

By the time the water is cooled enough for the little one to wash 'em, the dishes have soaked themselves clean in that hot, soapy water.

A. H. F.

It's good training and teaches little girls to help their mommies with the housework.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Last Sunday morning I did something I thought was real clever.

I got ready for church . . . and it was so hot and humid, I hated the thought of wearing a hat. So I got out one of those veil caps — the type that comes down on the head and generally has a couple of bows or trimming of some sort.

Well, I had forgotten that the last time I wore it, it rained and the veil was very limp, resembling a hair net.

Just like a flash, this idea came to mind. I put a clean cloth on the ironing board. Then I put the veil on it and sprayed it with starch, stretching it into shape.

I ironed the whole thing with a warm iron, and it was stiff again, just the way I bought it.

TERRY.

DEAR HELOISE: I don't ever throw away a pretty dusting powder container. After the powder is gone, the container can be used for storing bobby pins, small curlers, buttons and oodles of things.

MRS. A. CYBRUCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I sew ties (bias tape or cord) about 12" long to the edges of old bedspreads so we can take them on camping trips.

We use them for shade, tablecloths, dressing room, or hanging walls.

I sew the tapes on all corners and at about two to three foot intervals. I make the corner ties longer.

Usually there is something you can tie it to and it serves a lot of uses.

FLORA YOUNG.

AFTER THAT experience he decided there might be a market for a genuine heel-type who still comes off as a kind of hero. Dan couldn't convince any producer. Then later Richard Widmark did it, and it was too late for Dan.

"But I've done all right, and I never wanted to be totally consumed with the business of acting. A guy has got to live a little, and he can learn his trade better by living some, too," Dan adds.

Until last January, when Dan's wife Helen died suddenly, his was one of the longest and happiest of Hollywood's marriages — nearly 36 years. He met her when he was in the advertising business.

"I'm not rich, like a lot of people think, but I didn't want to work all that hard to get it, and I'm not sorry," says Dan.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: Here's something I stumbled on to keep from having to wash so many pots and pans, specially when camping out or picnicking.

And surprisingly enough, it can also be used at home.

Whenever I open a can of vegetables in clear liquid (such as peas or green beans) that must be heated before using, I line the inside of the pan with a heavy piece of aluminum foil before dumping them in.

I found it better yet to pour about one-fourth cup of water into that little ole pan first and barely shape the foil to the contour of the pan. Then put in the vegetables. They will heat away like mad and the pan will never get too hot or burn the food.

All I have to do is pour the vittles into a dish and serve after they are heated.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: When ironing dresses or aprons that are decorated with rickrack, iron them on the wrong side, and the rickrack will not push up.

LOUISE N.

DEAR HELOISE: I would like to pass on my little brain storm.

Before driving to an anniversary party (wearing a white dress), I placed a double sheet of tissue paper across my tummy and fastened the seat belt over the paper.

JO ANN RAPP.

DEAR HELOISE: Does your little 5-year-old girl like to "wash" mommy's everyday dishes?

Go ahead and let her.

First, scrape off all food and put the dishes in the sink. Add the dish soap and fill the sink with hot water. Then wait awhile.

By the time the water is cooled enough for the little one to wash 'em, the dishes have soaked themselves clean in that hot, soapy water.

A. H. F.

It's good training and teaches little girls to help their mommies with the housework.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: Last Sunday morning I did something I thought was real clever.

I got ready for church . . . and it was so hot and humid, I hated the thought of wearing a hat. So I got out one of those veil caps — the type that comes down on the head and generally has a couple of bows or trimming of some sort.

Well, I had forgotten that the last time I wore it, it rained and the veil was very limp, resembling a hair net.

Just like a flash, this idea came to mind. I put a clean cloth on the ironing board. Then I put the veil on it and sprayed it with starch, stretching it into shape.

I ironed the whole thing with a warm iron, and it was stiff again, just the way I bought it.

TERRY.

DEAR HELOISE: I don't ever throw away a pretty dusting powder container. After the powder is gone, the container can be used for storing bobby pins, small curlers, buttons and oodles of things.

MRS. A. CYBRUCK.

DEAR HELOISE: I sew ties (bias tape or cord) about 12" long to the edges of old bedspreads so we can take them on camping trips.

We use them for shade, tablecloths, dressing room, or hanging walls.

I sew the tapes on all corners and at about two to three foot intervals. I make the corner ties longer.

Usually there is something you can tie it to and it serves a lot of uses.

For Revenge Against Israel

Algeria Chief Spurs Bid To Regroup Arab World

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Algeria's deceptively mild-mannered President Houari Boumedienne is spearheading moves to regroup the Arab world for revenge against Israel.

Boumedienne has condemned the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence and threatened to swing over to Red Chinese views which he rejected just a few months ago.

"There can be no neutrality in the forthcoming struggle," he told his people in a broadcast.

Boumedienne, whose shy manner conceals a will of steel, is reported convinced that Israel's war against the Arabs was part of a British-American plot to reimpose a form of colonialism on the underdeveloped countries.

The Algerian leader emerged from the Arab disaster with his forces intact and his prestige untarnished.

He ordered Algerian planes and troops to the side of the Egyptians, but only a handful of his fighter planes reached Egypt before the cease-fire. They saw almost no action, and from his capital 2,000 miles away Boumedienne definitely rejected the cease-fire and called on the Arabs to fight on.

Then Boumedienne was the only Arab leader to fly to Moscow seeking further Soviet support for the Arab cause. Demonstrators in Algiers accused the Kremlin of collusion with the West, echoing Peking's constant line.

In his talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Breshnev, Boumedienne reportedly argued that the policy of peaceful coexistence initiated by Nikita S. Khrushchev was being abused by the "imperialists" to defeat all national liberation movements.

Meanwhile, Algeria's government controlled newspapers and radio demanded the reconquest of Palestine at no matter what cost—by peaceful means if possible, by force if necessary.

This attitude may have disturbed the Soviet leaders even more than the prospect of Boumedienne switching his allegiance from the Russians to the Chinese. The Kremlin has supplied Algeria with $140 million worth of military equipment in the past 18 months and is providing massive political and economic aid which Boumedienne could hardly hope to match from Peking.

No communique was issued after Boumedienne's Moscow visit. Qualified sources said the Soviet leaders promised every possible aid to the Arab cause—short of approaching the brink of World War III.

The Russians also seem to have rejected Boumedienne's contention that American and British forces actively contributed to the Israeli victory. Algeria nonetheless broke relations with the United States—those with Britain were already broken—and closed its ports to all British and American ships.

200 Guests Flee Blaze In Plush Hotel In Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A midnight fire sent at least 200 guests at the plush Fontainebleau Hotel scurrying from their rooms early today. Some carted expensive clothing with them as they dashed to the lobby.

One woman, who fainted, was treated and released at a Miami Beach hospital. No other injuries were reported.

Firemen were called when smoke began filling the halls in the north tower, location of the presidential suite and the expensive penthouses in the 2,000-room hotel.

Mattresses and furniture, stored in a large room on the 18th floor, were found smouldering. As firemen chopped through the roof and windows to douse the furniture flames shot out the windows.

The guests, from the fourth to 17th floor in the tower, seemed to enjoy the impromptu gathering in the hotel's lobbies. By 3 a.m. they were permitted to return to their rooms.

200 Guests Flee Blaze In Plush Hotel In Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A midnight fire sent at least 200 guests at the plush Fontainebleau Hotel scurrying from their rooms early today. Some carted expensive clothing with them as they dashed to the lobby.

One woman, who fainted, was treated and released at a Miami Beach hospital. No other injuries were reported.

Firemen were called when smoke began filling the halls in the north tower, location of the presidential suite and the expensive penthouses in the 2,000-room hotel.

Mattresses and furniture, stored in a large room on the 18th floor, were found smouldering. As firemen chopped through the roof and windows to douse the furniture flames shot out the windows.

The guests, from the fourth to 17th floor in the tower, seemed to enjoy the impromptu gathering in the hotel's lobbies. By 3 a.m. they were permitted to return to their rooms.

Neither the cause of the blaze nor the amount of damage were immediately known.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How can you be so positive your advice is always right? I did what you advised, Ann, and now I'm not sure it was the wise decision.

Our daughter had a baby out of wedlock three months ago. The social worker, our minister, our doctor — everyone — said she should put the baby up for adoption. She was barely 16 and the boy 17. Marriage was out of the question.

I went to the hospital and stayed with my daughter until her child was born. Her little girl was the most beautiful baby I'd ever seen. Now that the ordeal is over things are back to normal and my daughter is reasonably happy.

The bad dream is over for her, but it will never be over for me. I'm bitter and depressed. I have a dull ache in my heart for my first grandchild who is lost to me forever. I wish I had said, "To hell with society," and taken that baby home and raised it as best I could. — HEARTSTICK.

Dear Heartstick: You did what was best for the baby, best for your daughter and best for the father of the child. And it was best for you, too, although you may not believe it now. You will believe it one day, however — when your daughter is married and has a family. When that day comes, please let me know.

Daddy's Little Girl

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has a father problem. He is a wonderful man but he has the crazy idea that he must keep proving how much he loves me by kissing me all the time.

I get embarrassed in front of my friends when he pulls me on his lap, or kisses me on the neck, but I hate to say anything for fear of hurting his feelings. Is it my mother's place to tell him, or do you think I should mention it?

I'm the only girl in a family of four boys and I know my father favors me, but I wish he would stop putting on such a show for everybody. What should I do? — OVERLOVED.

Dear Overloved: Tell your dad that you are a big girl now and you don't want to be smooched by daddy. A hello or goodbye kiss is jane fine, but that should be it.

Born Dropout

Dear Ann: Please help me. I'm a 15-year-old boy who hates school. I'm not learning anything. When the teachers talk I block out their voices and think of other things.

Homework is a bore and all the stuff they try to cram into our heads is a waste of time. Most of the things they teach in school these days will not help a person make a living. Why should I knock myself out trying to memorize Spanish words when I know I'll never go to Spain? Who needs it?

In two months I'll be 16, which is the legal age a kid can quiet school in this state. I plan to dog it until my birthday, and then take a powder.

I promised my dad I'd write to you, so I'm doing it. I'm not promising I'll pay attention to your advice. — FED UP TO HERE.

Dear Fed: Stay in school and get your diploma. If you think you are bored now, just wait until you get trapped in a nothing little job at the bottom of the pay scale and discover you are stuck there for the rest of your life.

Not a day goes by that I don't get a dozen letters from kids 19 and 20 — begging me to tell high schoolers to stick with it. So — I tell 'em, and I hope they listen.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wynn Crashes 3 Homers As Astros Jolt Giants, 6-2

Pirates Split With Phillies; Dodgers Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Wynn put one and one and one together and solved the problem of the Houston Astrodome's huge dimensions. His solution surprised everyone, including Wynn.

"I'm going to quit moaning about how big this ballpark is after that exhibition," said veteran slugger Eddie Mathews after watching Wynn become the first player to hit three homers in one game in the Astrodome, with its 340-406-340 dimensions.

It also was the first time Wynn ever hit three homers in a major league game, and they helped Houston to a 6-2 victory over San Francisco Thursday night.

"I knew that eventually it (hitting three homers in one game) would come about," said the 5-foot-9, 168-pound outfielder, "but I didn't expect it to happen there."

Meanwhile, Manager Gene Mauch of Philadelphia had put two and two together and figured he would have to divide the first-game pitching chores in a twi-night doubleheader against Pittsburgh. But Dick Hall also came up with a surprising solution.

With scheduled starter Jim Bunning ill with bronchitis, Mauch decided to start Hall, a 36-year-old relief specialist, and then finish with Dick Farrell, but Hall went the distance to beat the Pirates 4-1 in his first start in four years.

Dick Ellsworth failed to last one inning in the nightcap as Steve Blass of Pittsburgh capped a five-run first with a two-run single and then stopped the Phillies 5-2 on seven hits.

In the only other National League game scheduled, Jim Brewer and Don Sutton blanked Chicago on four hits as Los Angeles beat the Cubs 8-0.

Wynn's consecutive solo homers in the fifth, sixth and eighth innings gave him 14 for the season and six in his last seven games. The first tied the game 1-1, the second made it 3-2 and the third started a two-run inning that wrapped up the contest for Mike Cuellar, who scattered eight hits for an 8-2 record.

Wynn almost didn't try for the third.

"On the second strike, I was thinking of bunting," he said, "but the ball was inside and it wasn't a good pitch to try to lay down."

"I saw Joe Adcock hit four in Ebbetts Field, and I hit three there," Mathews said, "but I'd say this overshadowed either of those, coming in this big park."

Hall, whose longest previous stint this season was six innings, was not told he was going to start until minutes before game time "and I was a little nervous about it," he said. "It was a long time ago that I had started a game."

Asked if he would like to start regularly, he said "I'll have to see how the arm feels later."

Rich Allen drove in three runs with a single and a homer and Gene Oliver homered for the runs Hall needed.

The Pirates unloaded five hits, including two-run singles by Donn Clendenon and Blass, in their big inning. The Phils got to Blass only in the third when Gary Sutherland tripled and scored on an infield out and in the fifth when Clay Dalrymple homered.

Brewer, another pitcher normally found in the bullpen, allowed three hits in five innings before an elbow injury sidelined him and Sutton finished the shutout against Chicago.

Brewer also doubled in a run in the fourth inning off loser Ferguson Jenkins for his first hit in three years and the first extra base hit of his major league career. Wes Parker and Ron Hunt later homered.

Apaches, Mets, Chiefs Win HIHS Loop Game

The Highlandtown Apaches, Salineville Mets and Salineville Chiefs registered victories Thursday in the HIHS League.

The Apaches trounced the Salineville Dodgers, 13-2, as Danny Talbott hurled and Chick Jarvis hit a home run for the winners. Mike Earich was the losing hurler.

Palmer, Six Others Trail By 2 Strokes

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who had said an amateur couldn't win the U.S. Open, set out in pursuit of one today with two strokes to make up and very, very little to say about the non-professionals.

'I had a lot of luck," amateur Marty Fleckman shyly commented Thursday after he had startled an elite field with a three-under-par 67 and a two-stroke lead in the United States Open Golf Championship.

One more stroke back after the rain-interrupted first round, and even with par at 70 for the 7,015-yard Baltusrol course, were former British open champion Kel Nagle of Australia, 1965 PGA champ Dave Marr, ageless Dutch Harrison, Gardner Dickinson and George Archer.

Jack Nicklaus, who had stormed over the lush course in record 62 in his last practice round, had just posted his 71 when the torrential downpour—accompanied by thunder and lightning — sent the gallery of 15,787 and a handful of golfers scurrying for cover.

Among the latter was Ben Hogan, 55-year-old winner of four U.S. Open titles, who had just finished the 623 yard 17th—longest hole in Open history—and was one-over par.

After play was resumed 31 minutes later, he took a bogey six on the final hole and finished with a 72.

Fleckman, who learned his golfing lessons at the knee of the great Byron Nelson, was practically unknown among the field of 135 pros and 15 amateurs, and certainly wasn't in Palmer's mind two days ago.

Palmer, the 6-1 favorite going into the tourney, said the field was so good and the course in such fine shape that "any number of players could win it — maybe as many as 50."

"No, I don't think so," Arnie answered. "That's taking it too far. No, not an amateur."

The odds are still against it. An amateur has not won the Open since 1933, when Johnny Goodman took it, and he's the only one to do it since the immortal Bobby Jones. And an amateur has not even led since 1954, when Billy Joe Pattos took the first-round lead over this same course.

Did this sort of history bother Fleckman?

"Gee, no," he said, a surprised look crossing his darkly handsome face. "I hadn't even thought about it.

Fleckman, 23, is a native of Port Arthur, Tex., where he works in his father's lumber business. He's a recent graduate of the University of Houston where he won the NCAA championship, and started taking lessons from Nelson two years ago.

He was the first alternate to the U.S. Walker Cup squad and gained his spot on the team only when Beman turned pro a couple of months ago.

Frank Beard, one of the pretourney favorites, took a 73, while Julius Boros, a two-time Open champ and winner of three tourneys this year, finished with a 75 after taking a triple bogey seven on No. 5.

Rogers was the hitting star for the champs with two singles and drove in a pair. Burbick's tallied one in the second and that was all Tipton needed as he didn't allow a hit until two were down in the fifth.

Burbicks Win First Half In Pony League

Burbick's clinched the first - half championship in the Pony League Thursday as Tipton shut out Litten's on four hits, 5-0. Sevy's jolted Woodbine's hopes, 10-8. Burbick's finished with a 9-2 record and Woodbine 7-4.

Rogers was the hitting star for the champs with two bingles and drove in a pair. Burbick's tallied one in the second and that was all Tipton needed as he didn't allow a hit until two were down in the fifth.

Bob Deem poled two home runs for Sevy's and Payne cracked one for Woodbine, whose five-run rally in the last of the seventh fell short. Lascola rapped two doubles for the losers.

Pesky A's Edge Orioles In 11th Red Sox Jolt Leading White Sox

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Frank Robinson is seeking to stir up a hornet's nest, but the slumping Baltimore Orioles are still winging their way in the direction of the American League's second division.

The pesky Kansas City A's buzzed around the bases like bees in the eighth inning Thursday night, scoring five times to overcome a 5-0 deficit and then beat the Orioles 6-5 in the 11th on Reggie Jackson's single.

The setback dropped the American League champs two places to fifth. They are only one game ahead of Kansas City, Cleveland and the New York Yankees, who are deadlocked for the No. 6 spot.

In other AL games, Boston edged the leading Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 11 innnings, the Yanks blanked Washington 2-0 and Minnesota defeated Detroit, 6-4. California and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Robinson, the Orioles' star outfielder and last year's triple crown winner, said before the game with the A's, "This is too damned good a baseball club to be down where we are. If I stir up a hornet's nest maybe it's a good thing. Maybe they'll get stirred up enough that we'll get up there where we belong."

Earlier in the day the slugger had been quoted as saying there was some jealousy on the team. However, Manager Hank Bauer explained, "I think Frank used a poor choice of words. I think the right word is envious. Last year we always had two men in the line-up who were hitting the ball real good. This year we haven't."

For a while, the Orioles were hitting the ball real good Thursday night. They jumped on the A's Jim Nash for five runs in six innings, one on Boog Powell's sixth homer. Dave Johnson, Andy Etchebarren and Brooks Robinson each doubled in runs, and Etchebarron's sacrifice fly brought in another.

Then Kansas City went to work on Baltimore starter Tom Phoebus in the eighth, tying the score on five hits and an error.

Tony Conigliaro, Mickey Mantle and Harmon Killebrew were the circuit's other batting stars.

Conigliaro's two-run homer with two out in the 11th enabled the Red Sox to down the White Sox. Chicago had taken a 1-0 lead in their half of the 11th on Walt Williams' double and Ken Berry's single. Manager Eddie Stanky and catcher Smoky Burgess were ejected from the game after disputing a called third strike in the 10th inning.

Mantle broke a scoreless duel with a sixth inning homer and set up another run with a double for the Yankees. The home run was Mantle's 13th of the season and 509th of his career. Mel Stottlemyre limited Washington to five hits in evening his record at 6-6. Frank Bertaina was the loser.

Killebrew's 17th home run with a mate aboard ignited a four-run rally in the seventh inning for the Twins. The blast erased a 3-2 Detroit lead. Minnesota's Zoila Versalles collected his 1,000th major league hit with a sixth inning single.

Buckpasser, Damascus To Feature Race Cards

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Buckpasser and Damascus, thoroughbred racing's two big names, shove all other top performers into the back seat Saturday as they head the national feature program with something more than money at stake.

Buckpasser, the millionaire, puts his 15-race winning streak on the line in the 1⅛-mile, $50,000-added Bowling Green Handicap at Aqueduct, with a trip to France and the rich Grand Prix de St. Cloud depending on the outcome.

Damascus, the top ranked 3-year-old off victories in the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, goes in the 1⅛-mile, $35,000-added Leonard Richard at Delaware Park, with keeping in tip top condition more important than the cash award.

Under topweight of 135 pounds, the most he ever has carried, the 4-year-old Buckpasser is expected to have six rivals for his first race on the grass after accumulating a bank account of $1,342,204 in 27 starts on dirt tracks. With seven starters the Bowling Green will be worth $56,400, with $36,660 going to the winner.

Assagai, 1966 grass course champion and unbeaten in two races on the turf this year, is picked as the one most likely to upset Buckpasser. He gets in with 127 pounds.

In a change of mind, trainer Randy Sechrest decided to go with Moontrip, last year's winner, with a 113-pound weight assignment. Poker, stablemate of Buckpasser who also is ticketed for a trip to France next week, picks up 112.

Damascus, who has not run since boosting his earnings for the year to $365,410 in the Belmont June 3, is not expected to face more than four or five so-so rivals. On the definite list are I'm Smiley, Charles Elliott and Misty Cloud. The possibilities are Mr. Scipio, Favorable Turn and Light the Fuse.

Greene Ties World Mark In '100' Dash

By LARRY KURTZ

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Charlie Greene tied the world 100-yard dash record and refused to talk about it. Gerry Lindgren humiliated his opposition in the six-mile run and scoffed at the altitude factor.

Those were among surprises Thursday night in the opening round of the 46th annual NCAA Track and Field Championships at Brigham Young University. Another surprise was the decision of two world record-holders not to try for double victories.

Jim Ryun of Kansas, the world mile champion, easily won a qualifying heat and then bypassed the half-mile — an event in which he also has the fastest time on record. Tommie Smith, the 220 and 440 record-holder, decided to run only in the 220. He also had been entered also in the 100 and 440 but said he did not want to risk an injury.

All of the favorites came through the qualifying in fine form, but some darkhorses also turned up. One was Lennox Miller, a Southern California sophomore who ran the 100 in 9.2 seconds and the 220 in 20.5. Miller's fine 100 heat came just minutes before Greene, wearing prescription sunglasses at night, joined Bob Hayes, Harry Jerome and Jim Hines as the only men to clock 9.1.

Greene refused to talk after the race. A Nebraska teammate, quarter-miler Clifton Forbes, said Greene just didn't feel like talking.

"It's a personal thing," Forbes said. He would not elaborate, but he said it appeared to him that Greene stumbled slightly coming out of the blocks. Forbes said he was standing behind Greene when the race started.

Greene might have been solemn, but Lindgren was jovial after running away from the field in 28:44.0 in the six-mile, the night's only final. Although the time was some 37 seconds slower than his winning effort in last year's NCAA meet, Lindgren said the 4,500-foot altitude was no factor.

"The conditions were excellent," the little runner said, "The altitude had no effect." Lindgren comes back Saturday night to defend the three-mile title, which he also won last year.

Ryun also said he was not bothered by the altitude.

"It hasn't had any effect on me yet," he said. "But I don't really know because I haven't pushed myself."

Youngsters Get Opportunity For Fishing Awards

A "Junior Fishing Champion" program has been inaugurated as part of Pennsylvania's second annual "Let's Go Fishing Week," which begins Saturday.

Under the new program, any angler under 16 who catches a large fish in public fishing waters will be eligible for a citation award and a "Junior Fishing Champion" arm patch.

The fish must be caught in public waters by legal methods during the regular seasons. It must be measured, weighed and recorded by a fishing license agent or tackle store owner or manager. The entry then must be sent the Fish Commission at Harrisburg within 90 days of the catch.

Some photographs will be published in the Pennsylvania Angler, the commission's official monthly magazine.

Both Miss Wright and Marilynn Smith have tucked away two victories each.

Pesky A's Edge Orioles In 11th Red Sox Jolt Leading White Sox

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big Frank Robinson is seeking to stir up a hornet's nest, but the slumping Baltimore Orioles are still winging their way in the direction of the American League's second division.

The pesky Kansas City A's buzzed around the bases like bees in the eighth inning Thursday night, scoring five times to overcome a 5-0 deficit and then beat the Orioles 6-5 in the 11th on Reggie Jackson's single.

The setback dropped the American League champs two places to fifth. They are only one game ahead of Kansas City, Cleveland and the New York Yankees, who are deadlocked for the No. 6 spot.

In other AL games, Boston edged the leading Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 11 innnings, the Yanks blanked Washington 2-0 and Minnesota defeated Detroit, 6-4. California and Cleveland were not scheduled.

Robinson, the Orioles' star outfielder and last year's triple crown winner, said before the game with the A's, "This is too damned good a baseball club to be down where we are. If I stir up a hornet's nest maybe it's a good thing. Maybe they'll get stirred up enough that we'll get up there where we belong."

Earlier in the day the slugger had been quoted as saying there was some jealousy on the team. However, Manager Hank Bauer explained, "I think Frank used a poor choice of words. I think the right word is envious. Last year we always had two men in the line-up who were hitting the ball real good. This year we haven't."

For a while, the Orioles were hitting the ball real good Thursday night. They jumped on the A's Jim Nash for five runs in six innings, one on Boog Powell's sixth homer. Dave Johnson, Andy Etchebarren and Brooks Robinson each doubled in runs, and Etchebarron's sacrifice fly brought in another.

Then Kansas City went to work on Baltimore starter Tom Phoebus in the eighth, tying the score on five hits and an error.

Tony Conigliaro, Mickey Mantle and Harmon Killebrew were the circuit's other batting stars.

Conigliaro's two-run homer with two out in the 11th enabled the Red Sox to down the White Sox. Chicago had taken a 1-0 lead in their half of the 11th on Walt Williams' double and Ken Berry's single. Manager Eddie Stanky and catcher Smoky Burgess were ejected from the game after disputing a called third strike in the 10th inning.

Mantle broke a scoreless duel with a sixth inning homer and set up another run with a double for the Yankees. The home run was Mantle's 13th of the season and 509th of his career. Mel Stottlemyre limited Washington to five hits in evening his record at 6-6. Frank Bertaina was the loser.

Killebrew's 17th home run with a mate aboard ignited a four-run rally in the seventh inning for the Twins. The blast erased a 3-2 Detroit lead. Minnesota's Zoila Versalles collected his 1,000th major league hit with a sixth inning single.

Buckpasser, Damascus To Feature Race Cards

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Buckpasser and Damascus, thoroughbred racing's two big names, shove all other top performers into the back seat Saturday as they head the national feature program with something more than money at stake.

Buckpasser, the millionaire, puts his 15-race winning streak on the line in the 1⅛-mile, $50,000-added Bowling Green Handicap at Aqueduct, with a trip to France and the rich Grand Prix de St. Cloud depending on the outcome.

Damascus, the top ranked 3-year-old off victories in the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, goes in the 1⅛-mile, $35,000-added Leonard Richard at Delaware Park, with keeping in tip top condition more important than the cash award.

Under topweight of 135 pounds, the most he ever has carried, the 4-year-old Buckpasser is expected to have six rivals for his first race on the grass after accumulating a bank account of $1,342,204 in 27 starts on dirt tracks. With seven starters the Bowling Green will be worth $56,400, with $36,660 going to the winner.

Assagai, 1966 grass course champion and unbeaten in two races on the turf this year, is picked as the one most likely to upset Buckpasser. He gets in with 127 pounds.

In a change of mind, trainer Randy Sechrest decided to go with Moontrip, last year's winner, with a 113-pound weight assignment. Poker, stablemate of Buckpasser who also is ticketed for a trip to France next week, picks up 112.

Damascus, who has not run since boosting his earnings for the year to $365,410 in the Belmont June 3, is not expected to face more than four or five so-so rivals. On the definite list are I'm Smiley, Charles Elliott and Misty Cloud. The possibilities are Mr. Scipio, Favorable Turn and Light the Fuse.

The fish must be caught in public waters by legal methods during the regular seasons. It must be measured, weighed and recorded by a fishing license agent or tackle store owner or manager. The entry then must be sent the Fish Commission at Harrisburg within 90 days of the catch.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

To Shift The Ballast—Exercise

Shifting the pounds from one place to another more flattening spot is harder than losing them, some dieters complain. Unhappily, fat appears to leave last those spots where it has lingered the longest. Analyzed, the fat-prone places are the areas of least activity.

Ida Jean Kain

The way out of the dilemma is to ease through a few well-directed exercises. The secret is to put the action through the offending bulge. Have no doubts on the slimming measures. You will tone up and slim down in the right places. This report gives proof:

"In one month I lost only 8 pounds, but with the help of exercise I've lost a lot of inches in the right places. Here are my measurement changes in a single month. Bust 39½ to 38¼; waist 29½ to 27; Hips 40½ to 39½. . ."

LOST INCHES totaled almost five. Most of the slimming was done through the waist. Now our streamliner wishes to slim more off the hips. These hip slimmers hit the spot: The first exercise is rugged but effective because the hip muscles take part in the lifting movement.

Shift to an easier exercise and rock - a - bye bulges.

Position: Sit on floor, leaning slightly back to bring weight to bear smack on hip spread. Have arms out at sides, slightly back with palms on floor.

Action: Roll rhythmically across hip spread, pushing with one hand, bracing with the other. Let this be a slow, heavy, rhythmic roll — 25 counts. It's fun and smoothing.

Action: Swing top leg forward, then swing vigorously rearward and again forward and to the rear. On the second swing rearward hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of six. Hit a rhythm, 1-2-3-4 — hold. Repeat the complete routine 8 to 10 times. Change sides and repeat, always holding on second swing to rear.

King Says Baking Industry First Target In Cleveland

King said negotiations with the baking industry would start today.

He made the announcement after meeting more than two hours with some 200 white and Negro ministers of the United Pastors Association at an East Side church.

"We will move down the line of bread companies," King said. "We hope that all will cooperate. If some are recalcitrant, we will call on the whole community to withdraw economic support.

"We will start negotiations . . . to get new and better jobs and increase the income and buying power for Negroes," King said.

The civil rights leader said negotiating teams would investigate the number of Negroes employed by the baking companies and the kinds of jobs they have.

Cliff Hunt, general manager of the bakery division of Fisher Foods, Inc., said the number of Negroes employed by the central bakery is "high, but it is lower in the outlying bakeries. This is not because of choice, but lack of skilled applicants.

Laub Baking Co. President M. B. Beyer said, "There are Negroes in all kinds of positions—sales and production. The number has never been important to me—just the qualifications."

Dr. King said he asked the civil rights groups to make Cleveland a target city. "We feel that Cleveland is potentially more explosive than any other city," he said. "The problems here are more serious."

Civil rights groups meeting in New York made the announcement Wednesday that Cleveland would be a target this year for all the groups. "I hope the task force leaders will hold their next meeting in Cleveland," King said.

Asked by newsmen about a report that Cleveland Mayor Ralph S. Locher is willing to meet with him, King said he was "happy to hear that the mayor has changed his mind."

Locher had said earlier that King was an extremist and he had no intention of meeting with him.

Greater Display Of Flag Urged By Kiwanis Speaker

Taylor, executive of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council and a colonel in the Army Reserve, criticized recent public destruction and misuse of the flag by demonstrators.

He commended the action of the Ohio legislature in increasing the penalties for desecrating the flag, and said Congress is studying new penalties.

Taylor said, "The flag is a symbol of freedom, hope, opportunity and the country we love, and by destroying it we also destroy those ideals."

"The men and women who helped create this nation and those who fought to defend it would have taken swift action against anyone publicly burning or ripping the flag."

He described a raising of a flag made by Germans at the direction of his Army unit in Europe in World War II, and the feeling he and the men in the unit had in seeing the red, white and blue for which they and their dead companions had fought.

Taylor said there is a need for more display of the flag, more open respect for it and the ideals it represents. "Get more vocal, write your congressman," he urged.

He said if the symbol of America is gone, then the heart and soul of the nation may perish. Les Blumenthal was program chairman.

Northwestern University nearly doubled the size of its campus by filling in 74 acres of Lake Michigan.

Parked Car Damaged In East Alley Collision

A parked car was damaged in a collision Thursday in East Alley at W. Drury Ln., police reported.

George C. Hissam of 820 Neptune Ave., Chester, told police the mishap dented the fender and runningboard of his 1964 compact sedan. He said the car was struck while parked on a lot of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

A W. 5th St. woman told Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins it may have been her auto that struck the parked car. She said she backed from a garage directly across the alley from the lot on which Hissam's car was parked, but did not feel the impact of a collision. Paint on the bumper of her car may have been scraped from Hissam's auto, police said.

To Shift The Ballast—Exercise

Shifting the pounds from one place to another more flattening spot is harder than losing them, some dieters complain. Unhappily, fat appears to leave last those spots where it has lingered the longest. Analyzed, the fat-prone places are the areas of least activity.

Ida Jean Kain

The way out of the dilemma is to ease through a few well-directed exercises. The secret is to put the action through the offending bulge. Have no doubts on the slimming measures. You will tone up and slim down in the right places. This report gives proof:

"In one month I lost only 8 pounds, but with the help of exercise I've lost a lot of inches in the right places. Here are my measurement changes in a single month. Bust 39½ to 38¼; waist 29½ to 27; Hips 40½ to 39½. . ."

LOST INCHES totaled almost five. Most of the slimming was done through the waist. Now our streamliner wishes to slim more off the hips. These hip slimmers hit the spot: The first exercise is rugged but effective because the hip muscles take part in the lifting movement.

Action: Lifting legs slightly off floor, separate the legs widely. Be sure to lift with hip and thigh muscles—do not slide legs. Bring legs together, again lifting. Continue for 6 to 8 counts, counting stride - and-back - together as one count. Relax.

Position: Sit on floor, leaning slightly back to bring weight to bear smack on hip spread. Have arms out at sides, slightly back with palms on floor.

Action: Roll rhythmically across hip spread, pushing with one hand, bracing with the other. Let this be a slow, heavy, rhythmic roll — 25 counts. It's fun and smoothing.

Action: Swing top leg forward, then swing vigorously rearward and again forward and to the rear. On the second swing rearward hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of six. Hit a rhythm, 1-2-3-4 — hold. Repeat the complete routine 8 to 10 times. Change sides and repeat, always holding on second swing to rear.

King Says Baking Industry First Target In Cleveland

King said negotiations with the baking industry would start today.

He made the announcement after meeting more than two hours with some 200 white and Negro ministers of the United Pastors Association at an East Side church.

"We will move down the line of bread companies," King said. "We hope that all will cooperate. If some are recalcitrant, we will call on the whole community to withdraw economic support.

"We will start negotiations . . . to get new and better jobs and increase the income and buying power for Negroes," King said.

The civil rights leader said negotiating teams would investigate the number of Negroes employed by the baking companies and the kinds of jobs they have.

Cliff Hunt, general manager of the bakery division of Fisher Foods, Inc., said the number of Negroes employed by the central bakery is "high, but it is lower in the outlying bakeries. This is not because of choice, but lack of skilled applicants.

Laub Baking Co. President M. B. Beyer said, "There are Negroes in all kinds of positions--sales and production. The number has never been important to me--just the qualifications."

Dr. King said he asked the civil rights groups to make Cleveland a target city. "We feel that Cleveland is potentially more explosive than any other city," he said. "The problems here are more serious."

Civil rights groups meeting in New York made the announcement Wednesday that Cleveland would be a target this year for all the groups. "I hope the task force leaders will hold their next meeting in Cleveland," King said.

Asked by newsmen about a report that Cleveland Mayor Ralph S. Locher is willing to meet with him, King said he was "happy to hear that the mayor has changed his mind."

Locher had said earlier that King was an extremist and he had no intention of meeting with him.

The United Pastors Association pledged $150,000 to finance King's operation.

Greater Display Of Flag Urged By Kiwanis Speaker

Taylor, executive of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council and a colonel in the Army Reserve, criticized recent public destruction and misuse of the flag by demonstrators.

He commended the action of the Ohio legislature in increasing the penalties for desecrating the flag, and said Congress is studying new penalties.

Taylor said, "The flag is a symbol of freedom, hope, opportunity and the country we love, and by destroying it we also destroy those ideals."

"The men and women who helped create this nation and those who fought to defend it would have taken swift action against anyone publicly burning or ripping the flag."

He described a raising of a flag made by Germans at the direction of his Army unit in Europe in World War II, and the feeling he and the men in the unit had in seeing the red, white and blue for which they and their dead companions had fought.

Taylor said there is a need for more display of the flag, more open respect for it and the ideals it represents. "Get more vocal, write your congressman," he urged.

He said if the symbol of America is gone, then the heart and soul of the nation may perish. Les Blumenthal was program chairman.

Senior Citizens Join In Program On Father's Day

A Father's Day program featured the meeting of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, with 104 attending. T. J. Cunningham, vice president, presided in the absence of William Osborn, president.

Fathers present received white carnations. A songfest was featured and Mrs. Margaret Datwyler read a poem pertaining to Father's Day.

Mrs. Lena Sanford received the corsage. Games, including cards, were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Parked Car Damaged In East Alley Collision

A parked car was damaged in a collision Thursday in East Alley at W. Drury Ln., police reported.

George C. Hissam of 820 Neptune Ave., Chester, told police the mishap dented the fender and runningboard of his 1964 compact sedan. He said the car was struck while parked on a lot of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

A W. 5th St. woman told Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins it may have been her auto that struck the parked car. She said she backed from a garage directly across the alley from the lot on which Hissam's car was parked, but did not feel the impact of a collision. Paint on the bumper of her car may have been scraped from Hissam's auto, police said.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROSETTA STONE

QUESTION: What secret did the Rosetta Stone solve?

ANSWER: The hieroglyphic writing of the ancient Egyptians puzzleed scholars for thousands of years. When Napoleon invaded Egypt in 1799, an officer found a remarkable stone partly buried in mud near a place called Rosetta. Across the top was an inscription in Egyptian hieroglyphic. Below this was another in Demotic, a popular ancient Egyptian language. Below this was still another in Greek. The officer, guessing that the three languages might mean the same thing, had the stone put in the hands of experts. Jean Francois Champollion, a French scholar, devoted himself to the study of the stone. He translated the Greek part and found places where names were introduced. Then he found the same places in the hieroglyphich and so was able to find the meaning of some of the pictures. He also found certain resemblances to modern Egyptian. But 1822, the meaning of all the hieroglyphic symbols had been unravelled. Now scholars could actually read the story of ancient Egypt, as written and carved on tombs and monuments by the early Egyptians themselves.

Byrnes' Secret Papers

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

FDR, Truman Favored Dismemberment Of Germany

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman once favored postwar dismemberment of Germany, the once-secret papers of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes show.

And Roosevelt declared himself so "bloodthirsty" over Nazi destruction in the Crimea he invited Soviet Premier Josef Stalin to "again propose a toast to the execution of 50,000 officers of the German army."

These and other intimate glimpses at turbulent World War II times are provided in formerly top secret papers deposited with the Clemson University Library by Byrnes, Truman's one-time-secretary of state and Roosevelt's so-called assistant president.

Byrnes, living in retirement in Columbia, S.C., said in an interview he had no recollection of a previous Stalin toast to the execution of German officers but presumed it had been made at the December 1943 Teheran Conference.

This reporter's review of the Byrnes papers showed a report of the Yalta meeting said Stalin replied to Roosevelt's observation that "everyone was more bloodthirsty than they had been a year ago." He added that the destruction in the Crimea was nothing compared to that in the Ukraine, where the Germans had time for methodical wrecking.

The report said of Stalin: "He said the Germans were savages and seemed to hate with a sadistic hatred the creative work of human beings."

Another Byrnes paper covered a May 28, 1945, Moscow meeting of Harry Hopkins and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman with Stalin and Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov.

Hopkins, Truman's personal representative, brought up the issue of German dismemberment by observing he understood Stalin had said in a speech he was against cutting up the defeated nation.

Stalin said that at the February 1945 Yalta Conference two months before Roosevelt's death it was understood the decision was not for a positive plan to partition Germany but was a threat to be held over the Germans' heads.

The report continued: "Mr. Hopkins said that such was not his understanding of the Crimea decision and he knew that President Truman was inclined toward dismemberment and in any event was for the detachment of the Saar, Ruhr and west bank of the Rhine under international control."

Stalin conceded the Soviets once advanced a dismemberment plan but dropped it after the British opposed it. He said the matter could be discussed at the forthcoming Potsdam Conference but that he did not regard the lopping off of parts of Germany as dismemberment.

Subsequently when the matter came up at a July 1945 conference of foreign ministers in Berlin, Byrnes reminded Molotov that Roosevelt had favored dismembering Germany but had changed his mind.

The Byrnes papers also disclose that Gen. Charles de Gaulle tried in 1945 to get the Allies to push France's border to the Rhine and that Stalin once urged the United States to take the leading role in rehabilitating postwar China.

At the Yalta meeting, Stalin was reported to have asked Roosevelt whether the U.S. President thought France should have a zone of occupation in Germany.

"The President said he thought it was not a bad idea," the report of the meeting said.

"But he added that it was only out of kindness."

New Fingerprint Gear Purchased For Police

The police department has received a new kit of equipment for use in obtaining and classifying fingerprints.

The kit includes equipment for "lifting" fingerprints from smooth surfaces by use of fine powders, as well as the iodine fume method. Aids for examing and classifying prints also are included. It is the first such set of such equipment purchased since 1948.

The new equipment will be used primarily by Capt. Kenneth H. Mooney, who was graduated a few weeks ago from a fingerprint course at the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification at London.

Byrnes' Secret Papers

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

FDR, Truman Favored Dismemberment Of Germany

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman once favored postwar dismemberment of Germany, the once-secret papers of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes show.

And Roosevelt declared himself so "bloodthirsty" over Nazi destruction in the Crimea he invited Soviet Premier Josef Stalin to "again propose a toast to the execution of 50,000 officers of the German army."

These and other intimate glimpses at turbulent World War II times are provided in formerly top secret papers deposited with the Clemson University Library by Byrnes, Truman's one-time secretary of state and Roosevelt's so-called assistant president.

Byrnes, living in retirement in Columbia, S.C., said in an interview he had no recollection of a previous Stalin toast to the execution of German officers but presumed it had been made at the December 1943 Teheran Conference.

This reporter's review of the Byrnes papers showed a report of the Yalta meeting said Stalin replied to Roosevelt's observation that "everyone was more bloodthirsty than they had been a year ago." He added that the destruction in the Crimea was nothing compared to that in the Ukraine, where the Germans had time for methodical wrecking.

The report said of Stalin: "He said the Germans were savages and seemed to hate with a sadistic hatred the creative work of human beings."

Another Byrnes paper covered a May 28, 1945, Moscow meeting of Harry Hopkins and Ambassador W. Averell Harriman with Stalin and Soviet Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov.

Hopkins, Truman's personal representative, brought up the issue of German dismemberment by observing he understood Stalin had said in a speech he was against cutting up the defeated nation.

Stalin said that at the February 1945 Yalta Conference two months before Roosevelt's death it was understood the decision was not for a positive plan to partition Germany but was a threat to be held over the Germans' heads.

The report continued: "Mr. Hopkins said that such was not his understanding of the Crimea decision and he knew that President Truman was inclined toward dismemberment and in any event was for the detachment of the Saar, Ruhr and west bank of the Rhine under international control."

Stalin conceded the Soviets once advanced a dismemberment plan but dropped it after the British opposed it. He said the matter could be discussed at the forthcoming Potsdam Conference but that he did not regard the lopping off of parts of Germany as dismemberment.

Subsequently when the matter came up at a July 1945 conference of foreign ministers in Berlin, Byrnes reminded Molotov that Roosevelt had favored dismembering Germany but had changed his mind.

The Byrnes papers also disclose that Gen. Charles de Gaulle tried in 1945 to get the Allies to push France's border to the Rhine and that Stalin once urged the United States to take the leading role in rehabilitating postwar China.

At the Yalta meeting, Stalin was reported to have asked Roosevelt whether the U.S. President thougnt France should have a zone of occupation in Germany.

"The President said he thought it was not a bad idea," the report of the meeting said.

"But he added that it was only out of kindness."
